

Arab Ministers Meeting Again On Oil Embargo

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The world's major oil producers scheduled another meeting here to decide whether to lift the oil embargo against the United States.

The session was set for 11 a.m. EDT, and Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani told reporters the embargo would be lifted in that session. Algeria's official newspaper El Moudjahid also said the embargo would be lifted.

But in Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported the decision to lift the oil embargo may be delayed for a week to refer it to an Arab foreign ministers meeting on March 25. It said Libya still rejected the lifting of the ban.

The ministers from nine Arab countries met for three and a half hours Sunday but failed to agree. Syria and Libya were reported blocking a unanimous decision to lift the blockade. However, one unconfirmed report said Syria's objections had been ironed out, and Libya would abstain from the decision by the rest.

Several of the ministers met until late Sunday night in an attempt to draft a consensus document. Others contacted their governments for further instructions, sources said.

Earlier Sunday, 13 of the world's major oil-producing nations, including seven of the Arab states, concluded a weekend meeting here with the announcement they would maintain their posted prices on crude oil until July 1.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said its decision not to raise the artificial price on which their share of the oil revenue is calculated was a good will gesture toward the leading oil consumers — Western Europe, Japan and the United States. But a spokesman warned that unless the industrial nations controlled their "galloping inflation" and the prices they charge the oil nations for their manufactured products, they would raise the oil price again.

The OPEC countries produce 80 per cent of world oil exports.

The Arab oil meeting was a followup to one in Tripoli, Libya, last Wednesday. It produced reports that the ministers had decided to end the boycott they agreed on last October in an attempt to pressure the United States to modify its pro-Israeli policy. A formal decision and announcement was predicted for the Vienna meeting.

Instead, it quickly became apparent that the ministers had arrived in Vienna with their differences unresolved. Algeria, one of the three hard-liners, was reported to have been won over by Egypt and Saudi Arabia, the leaders of the anti-embargo bloc, but Syria and Libya held out, insiders said.

Libya has adamantly opposed lifting the embargo because it claims Washington's policy remains directed against the Arabs. Sources said Libya was provoked further by President Nixon's threat in his speech Friday to "slow down our very real and earnest efforts to get a disengagement on the Syrian front and a permanent peace settlement" unless the embargo is lifted.

Lottery Eyed By Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly a year after voters lifted a ban against a state lottery, the legislature still is trying to put loose ends together to get it on the road.

The pending matters include a question of whether tickets will be sold in liquor spots, and if, in fact, the lawmakers will leave intact the Lottery Commission's decision to put the state headquarters in Cleveland.

Although other preliminary work is going ahead, the legislature is expected to resolve these questions in the near future so they will not become a possible roadblock. For weeks now, lottery advocates have charged "foot dragging."

Sen. Ronald L. Mottl, D-24 Parma, and others assert the state is losing millions in revenue to lottery operations in neighboring Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Wednesday afternoon, the Senate Commerce & Labor Committee is expected to consider a House-approved bill that would clear the way for sale of lottery tickets in taverns, bars, and other holders of state liquor permits.

Present rules of the Liquor Control Commission forbid all types of gambling and would prohibit sale of lottery tickets, said State Liquor Director Richard Guggenheim. But passage of the pending bill would be a mandate for the commission to change its rule, he said.

The issue created a furor in the House Feb. 26 when the bill squeaked through by a 53-33 vote with 50 needed for passage.

The vote followed an earlier defeat of the bill 49-38, and long debate. Some insisted the House was advocating sales to the inebriated, including those with moderate or low incomes.

The legislature, when it implemented the lottery ballot resolution, vested in the five-member commission the power to pick a site for lottery headquarters. It chose Cleveland, but representatives of other contending cities refused to give up their fight.

Sen. Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus, introduced a bill that would require locating the headquarters in Columbus. He will get a hearing on his bill this week—at a Tuesday morning meeting of the Senate Ways & Means Committee.

Rep. M. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, said she plans to introduce Tuesday a bill that would require the offices to be located in her home town. Mansfield and Columbus were among several other unsuccessful contenders, along with Dayton and Cincinnati.

Hechler said he had sent a strong telegram of protest to the coal company.

"The energy crisis is no excuse to violate the rights of the people," he said.

Cochran, contacted in Pittsburgh, said it was the first he had heard of the situation. "I think the thing to do here is for all the parties concerned to sit down and see what could be worked out."

He added, "Ken Hechler is a publicity hound. All too often, Ken tries these cases in the press. If the congressman has any ideas about how we can help these people he could come to us and tell us."

Mrs. Ruby Dalton, secretary-treasurer of the land company that leases the property said the residents had been leasing the home sites for $20 a year and some bought the homes at very modest prices.

Mills Sees Nixon Out Of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, predicts President Nixon will be out of office by November.

Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee and vice chairman of the committee looking into the President's taxes, was asked in a televised interview Sunday whether he expects Nixon will be in office by the November election.

"I do not," Mills responded.

"By resignation, by impeachment?" Mills replied: "One or the other, I do not know which at this time."

Appearing on the CBS program "Face the Nation," Mills said he believes Nixon will come under increasing pressure from within the Republican party because of his tax problems and fears of lost votes in November.

The Arkansas Democrat told one of the newsmen interviewing him: "I would think that probably you and I both may well be surprised when the vote occurs on the articles of impeachment over the number on the Republican side who may vote for those articles of impeachment."

Mills added: "If he stays in office as President, members of his own party know that they'll lose seats in the House."

Commenting on Nixon's income tax problems, primarily involving a deduction for donation of his vice presidential papers to the National Archives, Mills said:

"There is a possibility if (the investigation) proves that the deduction of the papers given to the archives was improper that there would be fraud on the part of someone."

Panel Gets Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today ordered the secret Watergate jury report delivered to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry.

Sirica said the report "draws no accusatory conclusions ... it renders no moral or social judgments."

"The report is a simple and straightforward compilation of information gathered by the grand jury and no more," he said.

Sirica delayed implementation of his order for two days to permit filing of appeals.

Sirica said in his opinion that the grand jury "strongly recommends" that its report and a satchel filled with evidence should go to the impeachment committee because:

"Having carefully examined the contents of the grand jury report, the court is satisfied that there can be no question regarding their materiality to the House Judiciary Committee's investigation."

"The person on whom the report focuses, the President of the United States, has not objected to its release to the committee," Sirica said.

"Other persons are involved only indirectly," he added.

"... And although it has not been emphasized in this opinion, it should not be forgotten that we deal in a matter of the most critical moment to the nation, an impeachment investigation involving the President of the United States," Sirica said.

"It would be difficult," he said, "to conceive of a more compelling need than that of this country for an unswervingly fair inquiry based on all the pertinent information."

The judge said it would be up to the House Judiciary Committee "to determine the significance" of the evidence and that the court offered no opinion as to relevance.

Sirica also said the Judiciary committee rather than the court should consider a request from White House counsel for permission to review the grand jury evidence.

The grand jury gave the report to Sirica on March 1, the same day it indicted seven former Nixon administration and Nixon campaign aides on charges of conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Sirica said last week he has spent a lot of time working on the decision.

"It's been late night work, early morning hours, things like that," he said in a brief telephone interview.

That decision is expected to be his last major act before stepping down as chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Washington. Sirica, who must relinquish the post Tuesday when he turns 70, will be succeeded by Judge George L. Hart Jr.

Sirica plans to remain an active judge after stepping down as chief judge. He already has assigned himself the Watergate cover-up trial.

The grand jury gave Sirica the report March 1 along with an indictment charging seven former Nixon administration and campaign aides with conspiracy to block the probe of the Watergate break-in.

The report and a satchel filled with evidence were said by sources to concern President Nixon's role in Watergate. The grand jury reportedly asked Sirica to give it to the House impeachment inquiry.

Meanwhile, Sunday, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said he expects President Nixon to be out of office by November. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and vice chairman of the joint committee looking into President Nixon's taxes, said on the CBS program "Face the Nation" that Nixon would be impeached or would resign by then.

And presidential adviser Bryce Harlow said that the White House, by refusing to turn over its files, was trying to help the committee "decide specifically what they are trying to do." He said White House action was designed to help the committee focus its inquiry.

In another Watergate-related development, Newsweek magazine has quoted Egyptian President Anwar Sadat as saying that the impeachment of President Nixon would be a "real tragedy" for the Middle East and the world. Newsweek published an interview with Sadat in this week's issue.

Sadat was quoted as saying that Nixon has "revolutionized the thrust of U.S. policy in our area and before that in the rest of the world."

Newsweek also published a poll by pollster George Gallup's organization that indicated a majority of Americans want Nixon tried in the Senate on Watergate-related charges.

And, in Los Angeles, Saturday, President Nixon's tax lawyer said the original deed by which Nixon's vice presidential papers were turned over to the National Archives was destroyed when a replacement deed was drafted and signed April 10, 1970. Lawyer Frank DeMarco said the original deed was signed in California April 21, 1969.

Judge Long-Time GOP Wheelhorse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before he became a federal judge in 1958, George L. Hart Jr. spent more than 20 years as a Republican party worker.

In those days, long before Watergate, Hart often raised as much as $500,000 a year as GOP chairman for the District of Columbia. "Every contributor of $100 or more was listed by name and address ... every expenditure of as little as 10 cents was listed individually," Hart recalled in an interview.

"That was the way I thought campaign funds were handled ... 'I must have been a babe in the woods,' he added.

Recently, Hart has begun learning about Watergate-style Republican politics in his position as a U.S. District judge.

And, starting Tuesday, Hart takes over as chief judge of the District Court, succeeding the man given much of the credit for exposing Watergate,

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica. The change will be marked today by a luncheon ceremony at a meeting of the judicial conference.

Sirica turns 70 Tuesday and must step down as chief judge, though he plans to remain on the bench and already has assigned himself the Watergate cover-up trial.

As the new chief judge, Hart will receive any future Watergate indictments and assign the cases.

Because of the administrative duties of his new post, Hart said it isn't likely "I would assign one of the long and protracted Watergate cases to myself while I am chief judge."

In September 1972, Sirica assigned himself the case of seven men indicted on charges of burglary, conspiracy and wiretapping in connection with the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate office building.

At the trial in January 1973, five of the defendants pleaded guilty. The other two, G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr., were convicted by a jury.

Throughout, Sirica made it clear he didn't believe all the facts were being brought out. Finally, in March, McCord wrote the judge a letter in which he said the defendants had been pressured into pleading guilty and also that higherups were involved in the break-in.

Nearly a year later, a grand jury indicted seven former administration and campaign aides on charges of trying to block the Watergate investigation. A good deal of the credit was given to Sirica's dogged determination to get at the truth.

How does Hart feel, taking over as chief judge from the man whom Watergate made into a folk hero?

"It's just another job," he said, his voice still carrying a trace of the Tidewater Virginia drawl of his native Roanoke. "I frankly don't consider from a judge's point of view that a Watergate is different than any other case ... Some cases are more difficult than others, some are longer than others."

From the bench, Hart strives to bring cases to trial swiftly. He can become testy with lawyers who ask for what he considers too much time for filing pre-trial motions.

Federal rules of procedure set six months as the recommended maximum time from indictment to trial.

But as for Watergate, said Hart, "All of these cases cannot be tried in six months. They can't possibly be."

Hart is the son of a court reporter. His father wanted him to be a lawyer but the son dreamed of becoming an engineer and building bridges. But finally he shifted to law. After being graduated from Virginia Military Institute, Hart went on to Harvard Law School where he got his degree in 1930.

Both Hart and Sirica had successful law practices in Washington and were active Republicans before being appointed to the court by President Eisenhower.

Sirica, who left a mark more likely to be noted in history books than in the archives of the District Court, predicted that Hart will "be a great chief judge. He's a fine trial judge. He's an excellent administrator."

As for himself, Sirica plans to go on vacation, the first one he's had since the first Watergate trial.

ANNEXATION SOUGHT—A petition for annexation to Circleville of 1,834 acres east of the city was filed today with Pickaway County Commissioners. The petition was signed by 50 of the approximately 90 resident freeholders of the territory involved.

A tentative date for a public hearing will be 10 a.m. May 29 concerning the annexation. The map shows the boundaries of the territory. Knollwood Village is not included in the annexation.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed away from its recent highs today, pressured by continuing uncertainties in the Arab oil outlook.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 6.10 at 881.73, and losers overwhelmed gainers by more than 2 to 1 in generally sluggish activity on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said some investors were troubled by the news that Arab oil ministers had put off a decision on the future of the embargo on shipments to the United States, while agreeing to leave prices at their present high levels for three more months. The ministers were meeting again today to consider the embargo issue further.

Oil, auto, and other travel-related issues were generally weak. Exxon was down 1/8 at 87 1/2, General Motors slid 1/8 to 53, Howard Johnson slipped 1/8 to 12 1/2, and Ramada Inns was off 1/8 to 8 1/4.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks was off .28 at 52.90.

Unearned Pay Charges Investigated

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An investigation will be made into charges detailed in a 12-page report which states psychiatrists, psychologists and other professionals working for the Cincinnati Health Department were paid for hours they claimed, but did not work.

City Solicitor Thomas A. Luebbers said the matter will be referred to criminal justice authorities if the investigation proves the charges are substantiated.

The study was submitted to City Council members two weeks ago.

The document said "There was evidence that certain staff and consultants to the clinic were engaging in questionable fiscal and administrative practices."

"It was common practice for the psychiatric and psychological consultants to record on their time slips two hours work for every one hour of actual work they completed for the clinic," the study said.

The report said "exorbitant amounts of overtime pay" were being spent at the clinic for two staff positions, "the funds for which were taken from civil service positions that had never been filled."

Pay requests were entered for days the clinic was closed, the study said.

All the practices were halted last year, the report said, when Dr. David H. Sanders, assistant commissioner for mental health, took over control of the clinic from the psychiatrists who had been running it on a part-time basis.

Sanders, Dr. William R. Elsea, health commissioner, and Dr. Nicholas C. Anthony, director of the department's Psychiatric Clinic, signed the study.

Watergate Ranking 3rd As Issue?

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Republican leaders feel inflation and the energy crisis top Watergate as the primary issues in this fall's congressional election campaigns, according to the Gallup Poll.

In a nationwide survey of Republican county chairmen, 71 per cent named inflation as the leading issue and 65 per cent listed the energy crisis. Watergate was named by 32 per cent.

The Gallup organization said 2,384 chairmen returned questionnaires in the mail poll, a response rate of more than 65 per cent.

The chairmen played down the effect of Watergate on their party's congressional candidates. Forty per cent said the issue would affect their candidates "somewhat," 31 per cent said "hardly at all," 17 per cent said "not at all," 11 per cent said "a great deal," and 1 per cent gave no opinion.

County chairmen in the East expected the most fallout from Watergate. Seventeen per cent said they expected it would hurt a great deal. That response came from 8 per cent in the South, 11 per cent in the Midwest and 15 per cent in the far West.

Some 15 per cent of the chairmen said accusing the Democrats of using Watergate for partisan purposes would be one of the strongest arguments the GOP could use in the coming campaign.

This was the fourth most frequent response, with other answers being charges of an ineffective Democratic Congress, claims that the Republicans have maintained peace, and claims of good management in international affairs in general, and in international trade.

Presley Concert Held In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Glittering in a white jumpsuit, Elvis Presley drew screams and cheers with a homecoming concert in Memphis, where he started his career 20 years ago.

Presley, 39, gave four concerts over the weekend and will give another Wednesday. A Red Cross volunteer at the opening concert Saturday, attended by 12,000, said lots of aspirin and earplugs were given out, "but nobody needed the oxygen tank."

The singer did such numbers as "C.C. Rider" and "I Can't Help Falling in Love with You."

Playwright Sets UM Appearance

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Playwright Arthur Miller will take to the stage next month at the University of Michigan.

Miller will narrate "From the Creation," a theater piece based on his play, "The Creation of the World and Other Business." The show, with music by Stanley Silverman, will include a cast of six singers.

The production will be a substitute for a new work, "The American Clock," which Miller has been writing in residence at the university. Officials said the new play will be produced at the school later.

Deputies Investigated Four Weekend Accidents

Five persons received injuries in four weekend accidents, with two persons receiving citations, investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies.

Sixty-three-year-old Dale B. Hopkins, Orient, was cited for driving while intoxicated, by Deputy Lawrence Holt, when he was involved in a single-car accident 4:57 p.m. Saturday.

Hopkins was driving north on State Route 62, when he went off the right side of the road striking a guard rail. According to the investigation, Hopkins made no attempt to report the accident.

Jon J. Reebel, 16, Lockbourne, was referred to his doctor for a laceration to his left hand and fingers, when he was involved in a single-car accident 11:50 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Deputy Robert Hoover, the left front wheel came off the vehicle causing Reebel to lose control.

The auto went off the berm of the highway striking the guard rail, turning over onto its top.

Two teenagers were treated and released at Berger Hospital for injuries in a two-car accident on State Route 159 12:18 p.m. Sunday.

Robert L. Ratcliff, 17, Route 4, heading north, was stopped at Shoemaker Road and Route 159. Failing to see a car driven by Carl L. Anderson, 60, Route 4, Ratcliff pulled in front of Anderson causing the collision.

Deputy Deal cited Ratcliff for failure to yield the right of way.

Ratcliff received abrasions to his left arms, both knees and head. Kathy S. Ratcliff, 15, Route 4, passenger in the auto, received abrasions to the head and hands and had teeth knocked loose.

Anderson received abrasions to the left leg and hands.

Linda K. Clark, 23, Route 1, Lockbourne, received minor injuries in a single-car accident on Harrisburg-Fairfield Road, 5:39 p.m. Sunday.

Travelling east on the Harrisburg-Fairfield Road, the auto went off the right berm straddling a guard rail, turning over onto its top.

Deputies Lawrence Holt and John Bost investigated the accident.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The Arab oil producers decided Monday to lift the oil embargo against the United States, Saudia Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said.

Coins Taken In Grand Theft

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown investigated the theft of $949.50 worth of coins from the Edward D. Hudson residence, Commercial Point.

According to Hudson, the money was taken from the bedroom sometime between 7:30 a.m. March 14 and 8 p.m. March 16.

Cooke Metzger, Route 2, Williamsport, operator of the Howard Smith farm, Chillicothe-Williamsport Road, reported to Sheriff's Authorities, thieves took livestock food from the barn.

Using a shovel, the thieves took the food sometime between noon Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy James Deal, estimated value of the food was $50.

Two Glass Doors Broken In City

An inside glass door at Prairie Lanes, N. Court St., was broken as the result of an altercation 10:50 p.m. Saturday.

Anne Coffland, manager of the Lanes, notified city police that two men had begun fighting while playing pool and one of them walked through the glass door.

Someone shot a hole in the glass storm door at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert A. Hunt, 606 E. Main St., approximately 9 a.m. Sunday. Police believe the vandalism was caused by a BB gun.

The most magnetic material at ordinary temperatures is cobalt-copper-samarium.

Coach Of The Year Talks About Team And Next Year

By TERESA OHOL
and JANET STRUCKMAN

In talking with Coach Hoover, who was named Coach of The Year, we learned of his feeling about this year's basketball record. We also learned of his feeling about next year's team and what he expects from them.

COACH ROBERT HOOVER

"Next year I feel that we will have a good basketball team. We will have

Girls Track Team Sparks Interest

By VICKI McCONNAHA

On March 4, 80 to 90 girls signed up for the 1974 track team. With this number of girls interested, each event should have good competition. There will be the same events open as before except for the basketball throw. This year the team has a good chance of having a winning record since the eighth grade and high school teams of last year had a fine season. This is the second year for the track team to be coached under Mrs. Rinehart, and she will still be looking for an undefeated season.

These are some comments from the old members: Pam Hannah - (shot put, discus, softball throw) "We are going to win the Metro League this year. Namely, because we were undefeated last year. You might add with Mrs. Rinehart as coach, how could we lose? Last year's record was the greatest in the school. It was the first trophy for the girl's track team." Kim Martin (shot put, 880 run) "The team will do good this year."

Nancy Waidelich "The attention getters need to be eliminated. From the wide selection of girls, we should win the Metro." Sheri Barr (shot put, discus, sprints) "I think more people should go out for the team. It doesn't hurt to get exercise." Vicky Smith (sprints, 440 relay) "I think we will have good ratings. Since there are so many trying out, it should be better." Julie Pabst (shot put, discus, relay) "I think we will have another undefeated season. Pam Younklin (440 run, 880 relay) "I think we will win all of our meets. We will be undefeated just like last year."

Two new members have this to say: Luann McConaha (broad jump) "I think the team will do good since we have freshmen joining that were good from last year." Eileen Maynard (sprints, hurdles) "This is my first time to join, but I think the team will do pretty good."

more size than we have ever had. We have a lot of good juniors and some sophomores coming up that will make us a contender for the league," was Coach Hoover's speculation.

He continued, "I was real pleased with our 16-2 regular season play. We lost by a total of four points in the two season games we lost. We won the Metro League. We defended our sectional title for the second year in a row. I was well pleased with this season. They really played well throughout the season."

"First of all, I feel that in order to have a good team the players need mental attitude. That is probably the key factor. I feel very fortunate that I have very smart players, and they did things well."

"Determination and desire are key points and the ability to take constructive criticism. Pontius, Anderson, Logsdon, and Brinker worked hard to help themselves."

"A lot of the boys could come off the bench in a tight ball game and do a real good job. Our attitude, ability to think, and ability to play good basketball are good points. I feel lack of height was probably the only weakness we had."

"The school spirit this year, more so than in the past, has been tremendous. Probably the most exciting thing that can happen to a coach is to have the students and community follow a team like we had. We had one of the biggest followings of any teams around. It gave them a little more incentive to win these games. I can remember a couple of the boys saying that when they were introduced at a ball game and they heard all the cheers and screams from the crowd, chills ran up their spines." "The cheerleaders were an exceptional group this year. They were very mature girls."

"It sure has been a pleasure for me to coach these boys and work with them. I personally feel that these are the finest group of senior boys in the state of Ohio."

The Blue and Gold Staff and students and faculty at Teays Valley High School would like to congratulate Coach Hoover and the team on the fine job they have done. We would like to

Sociology Class Studies Crime

By JANET STRUCKMAN

Mrs. Beaver's sociology class has been conducting a study of crime and juvenile delinquency. During the course, oral reports, discussions, book reports and five resource guest speakers have been available to the students on the subject.

Deputy Bill Dountz of the Pickaway County Sheriffs Department brought to us the Adult Parole Officer of the Columbus Authority, Ron Shembron, who in turn presented Carol Galik, an ex-drug addict.

Carol Galik related her life history including the many crimes committed to support her $70 a day habit, and her experiences of three years in the Marysville Reformatory.

Highway Patrolman, Charles Cubbison of the Circleville Post, told us of crime on the highway and showed us an informative film on drinking and driving.

The Superintendent of Fairfield School for Boys, Ralph Starkey, gave us insight into the daily life and causes of a juvenile delinquent in his school.

A visit to Pickaway County Court will complete our unit of study.

TV Reserves Break Even; 9-9 Record

By RON CATRON
And MARK WILSON

At the end of the basketball season, TV's reserve basketball team broke even with a 9-9 record. The reserve team played their games just before the varsity team. Starting the games for the reserve team were: Jeff Cauger at center, Dave Shiff and Brad Sherman at forwards and guards were Rusty Rathburn and Dave Barr. Coaching the team was Bill Lewis.

Teams members felt that the team was hampered this year by the fact that they didn't have enough players to have good practice sessions.

When asked about the competition this year Rusty Rathburn replied, "I felt that the competition was a whole lot tougher this year than last year."

Mark Messick, who played the sixth man on the team, felt that the toughest team they played in the league this year was Grandview. "They had plenty of height combined with good shooting ability." He also felt that the reserve team got support from the community this year.

Dave Barr felt his most exciting experience of the year was in the West Jefferson game where he threw in the winning free throw in overtime. Dave's comment on the season was, "We played good ball till the last four games of the season where we had a big let down."

Jeff Cauger's most exciting experience was when he put in the winning basket in the last seconds of the Grandview game that was played at home.

When asked about next year, Dave Barr said, "I feel that we will have the best team in the county next year."

16,475 Recipients Off Welfare Rolls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Welfare Director Charles Bates said today 16,475 recipients were removed from welfare rolls during the first six months of the 1974 fiscal year.

He attributed the decline to the state's work registration program under which jobs were located for recipients, and those who refused to accept employment or training opportunities were removed from the rolls.

TV And CHS Councils Exchange New Ideas

By CHRIS HANSEN

The Teays Valley High School Student Council met March 6, for their regular meeting.

At this meeting, members discussed the recent meeting at Circleville at which many of the council members were present. The council passed a motion to send representatives back and forth between the two schools in order to obtain new ideas and objectives. This motion will become effective once it is approved by the Circleville Student Council and by the principals of both schools.

The suggestion box and the juke box have both been installed and have had fantastic results. The suggestion box, a black mail box covered with multi-colored flowers, now stands in the main lobby of the high school. Several of the suggestions were read at this meeting, and a special committee was set up to deal with suggestions made in the future.

The juke box, which was installed about three weeks ago, is working quite successfully and as of yet has presented no noise problems. The council estimated an approximate profit of $12 per week from this project.

Jim Logsdon reported on the Logan Elm petition which was brought to Teays Valley wishing the basketball team good luck at the tournament games. This petition, drawn up by the Logan Elm Student Council, contained the signatures of over 300 students and faculty. A special thanks goes to all those great supporters.

The opinion poll is scheduled to take place within the next two weeks. It will be taken in required classes of each grade, such as government for seniors, American history for juniors, and English for sophomores and freshmen.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, at 1:15 p.m.

Nixon's Brother Received $15,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edward Nixon, brother of the President, was paid $15,000 in consultant fees during 1973 by the tax-exempt Richard Nixon Foundation, the foundation president says.

Leonard K. Firestone said in an interview Friday that Edward Nixon was paid $1,500 a month from January through October to assist Whittier College, the President's alma mater, with an oral history project on the President's prepolitical years.

Firestone had disclosed previously that the foundation, formed by friends of President Nixon in 1969 to plan and build a presidential library, paid Edward Nixon $21,000 to help select a suitable site for the library. Those fees were also paid at a rate of $1,500 a month for a 14-month period between December 1970 and January 1972.

Nixon Deed Destroyed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — An original deed donating President Nixon's vice presidential papers to the National Archives was thrown away, Nixon's tax lawyer says.

Attorney Frank DeMarco said Friday the 1969 deed was destroyed when a replacement deed was drafted and signed on April 10, 1970. He described it as routine legal practice.

The deed is considered by some Washington sources as the key document in President Nixon's biggest single tax problem — his controversial deduction involving the vice-presidential papers, which were valued for tax purposes at $576,000.

"It doesn't exist," DeMarco said in a telephone interview. "That was the whole purpose of retyping and re-signing the deed."

DeMarco first spoke publicly about an original deed March 7. But a Washington source said Friday that the White House had been unable to locate the deed, which DeMarco says was signed in California on April 21, 1969.

California Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. has said the new deed was fraudulently backdated to April 1969 in an apparent effort to qualify the President for a full $576,000 income tax deduction for the papers.

Water safety certificates were issued to 288 persons in the local Red Cross swimming classes. The program included classes at Circleville, Ashville, Gold Cliff, Clark's Lake and Deercreek Reservoir.

A Page Of Opinion

A Tradition Shattered

Probably one of the most famous taverns in America is one most citizens have never seen. But they heard it idolized for generations through the "Whiffenpoof Song." After 110 years as a male bastion of serendipity and suds, Mory's, the Yale campus pub, has had its license yanked by the Connecticut Supreme Court.

Club rules were mentioned, but the real issue seems to have been Mory's all-male tradition. The state liquor commission charged the club with discrimination against women as well in a 1972 decision.

Of course Mory's discriminated against women. The whole point of its existence for more than a century was a convivial fellowship for males only. Even the song which made it famous has a few words for the current squabble: "Baa, baa, baaaaa."

Drugs And Despair

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — In light of the current events in Washington many young Americans often feel that all is lost, that they are powerless. But there is a group of young people based in New York but serving other states who are committed to improving this nation every day of their lives. They work long, but exciting hours in the atmosphere of Odyssey House, Inc.

The founder of this program is Judianne Densen-Gerber, an aggressive, dedicated lawyer-psychiatrist, wife and mother of four. She began Odyssey in 1966 in response to a challenge from 17 addicts who wanted to live a drug-free life.

Since then, the $3.82 seed money and a seven-room tenement have grown into a multi-million-dollar private, not-for-profit charitable agency operating in half a dozen states that has successfully freed 1,156 addicts from drug dependence.

The treatment program is lengthy and highly demanding, based upon therapeutic community methods. But Odyssey takes a unique and significant twist by involving the talents of psychiatrists, psychologists, physicians, lawyers, accountants and the graduated ex-addicts in a total team-approach to solving social and health problems.

Their philosophy is hard-line and non-nonsense. The addict is viewed as a despicable, uncooperative, selfish and frequently dangerous (where criminality is involved) individual who must either be treated or locked up; and therefore, he is given no chance to opt for the easy way.

Odyssey is adamantly against the use of methadone except in rare special medical cases. Methadone maintenance is regarded as neither a cure nor a viable treatment method for drug addiction. "Methadone as a cure for addiction," says Dr. Densen-Gerber, "is a lie and we as adults, physicians and responsible citizens, will never regain our credibility until we stop the lie."

However, removing this one choice is not a solution to this national health problem. All addicts are — by definition — criminals: they flout the law with each marijuana cigarette, each illicit dose of amphetamines, and each bag of heroin.

"Our best place," continues Dr. Densen-Gerber, "is a national civil commitment program in which the addict-criminal is given the choice of prison or treatment. Nothing else will do, for now the addict has so many choices to manipulate to his advantage that the rest of society is always three steps behind. We must grow up and insist that addiction be stopped because addiction spreads and is a contagious disease. The heroin powder is the germ and the addict the vector."

"Research has shown that each addict turns on 10 to 12 non-addicts each year. The child in the middle spreads his disease to the child to the right or the one to the left or both. We have to stop the spread."

To encourage these attitudes on a national level, Odyssey house has opened facilities in New Jersey, New Hampshire, Utah, Michigan and Louisiana — as well as New York — with a total agency capacity of 500 residential beds. But this is hardly sufficient to meet America's needs and Odyssey's staff is the first to agree.

James Murphy, the program's director and one of the original 17 patients, stated, "We will be more effective when there are Odyssey facilities in each of the 50 states, but that's not our only goal. For instance, in 1969, when we were the first to recognize the need for adolescent treatment programs, we undertook to modify the adult program for a younger population and then we taught others how to do the same. We cannot honestly be expected to administer all these programs. We would rather have the time to explore new problems and to design programs which provide the needed answers. We are a think-tank in health problems for the alienated young."

The Odyssey think-tank has operated on numerous occasions. After meeting the adolescent drug addiction epidemic, Odyssey turned its attention to the military addict. That was in 1971, when many of our troops in Vietnam were using the pure, East Asian heroin to face anxiety of combat. Odyssey developed an international treatment referral system for the Department of Defense. It was presented to then Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, and the special action office on drug abuse was the result of Odyssey's persistent pressure, as was Odyssey's consultant contract with the First Army.

More recently, Odyssey has designed special programs for the schizophrenic addict, for addicted pregnant women or single parents with infants, and for the highly intelligent addict. On a national scale, Odyssey designed a multi-level communication system to deal with the failure of the Executive Branch to meaningfully communicate with the grassroots and vice versa.

Most recently, Odyssey has designed (1) a pilot project to study the effectiveness of therapeutic community concepts in a prison setting, (2) an ideal multimodality prevention and treatment system for cities of approximately 250,000 people and (3) a ghetto slum rehabilitation project.

When asked to comment on Odyssey House, Frederick Cohen, Dr. Densen-Gerber's assistant and a graduate of the program, replied, "Challenge. I spent six years in college, bored and depressed. In my senior year I was turned on to pills and then was arrested nine months later. With a possible 18-30 years in prison hanging over my head, I had no alternative. Fortunately, I came to Odyssey. I was confronted with the reality that anyone whose I.Q. is 177 should not spend his life in prison, but rather constructively serve his fellow man."

Odyssey challenges everyone. Its senior residents are required to pay for their prior treatment by working without compensation as staff members for six months after graduation in a variety of projects, many of which are vocational rehabilitation models. The program's present challenge is to raise a development fund of $25,000,000.

With this fund, Odyssey can continue its program of developing creative solutions to social problems on a larger scale, as well as securing the necessary operating funds without having to depend upon the unpredictability of governmental funding in an era when nimble politicians play down the inner rot in our society.

It is reassuring that groups of people with integrity really do exist. Out in the ghettos, jails and the gutters, hopeless people have appeared at Odyssey's door, to be successfully graduated as productive, drug-free citizens. Many are now in college on full scholarships, taking pre-med or pre-law curricula. Others have remained within the mental health field to continue Odyssey's work.

Information Regulations Tighter Than 1st Publicized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Office has adopted freedom-of-information regulations that are not so strong as those promised more than a month ago by its chief, William E. Simon, to curtail secrecy in his agency.

Nevertheless, the rules close many loopholes that other agencies have used to deny records and documents to reporters and the public, energy officials said.

The regulations are more than a month late. In a Feb. 5 speech to the National Press Club, Simon pledged to send the regulations to the Federal Register within a week. They will go to the Federal Register Monday.

The highlights: —The regulations call for appointment of an information access officer who will handle requests for documents and records under the 1967 Freedom of Information Law. He is the only person in the agency authorized to deny a formal initial request for information, although anyone may grant a request.

—When a request is received from the press or public, the officer has 48 hours to acknowledge it or grant it or deny it. In his speech, Simon said the rules would call for a 24-hour acknowledgement period.

—The agency has 10 days to grant or deny the request, but the time may be extended to 20 days if "circumstances require additional time before a decision on a request can be released."

Simon said Feb. 5: "Within 10 working days, I personally guarantee you will get the information you seek, or have the opportunity to appeal."

—The regulations call for a ruling within 10 days on appeals, except that the deputy administrator may extend the time another 20 days if "novel or difficult questions are involved." The "novel or difficult questions" aren't defined.

Tobacco Acreage Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tobacco farmers plan to boost acreages 10 per cent this year, and the way Americans are puffing the extra output will be needed.

The Agriculture Department says adults 18 years and older smoked 4,155 cigarettes or nearly 208 picks per capita in 1973 and probably will puff even more this year. That is a statistical figure, however, and includes smokers and nonsmokers alike.

Regardless, the 1973 per capita rate was up from 4,043 cigarettes — slightly more than 202 packs — in 1972 and was the most since 1968 when the rate was almost 210 packs of 20 cigarettes each per capita.

The department's Outlook and Situation Board said Friday in a report that "per capita use may increase again" this year. Thus, with larger domestic demand and large exports, officials said total use for the current season will exceed the 1973 tobacco crop.

As a result, the tobacco reserve or old-crop carryover is expected to decline about three per cent by the time farmers begin harvesting their 1974 crops.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, March 18, the 77th day of 1974. There are 288 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1959, Hawaii was admitted to the union as the 50th state.

On this date — In 1776, During the American Revolution, George Washington's troops occupied Boston after evacuation of the British.

In 1837, Grover Cleveland, who served as the 22nd and 24th president of the United States, was born in Caldwell, N.J.

In 1937, more than 400 persons, mostly children, were killed in a gas explosion in a school in New London, Texas.

In 1962, a cease-fire in the Algerian war was signed by French and Algerian rebel delegations in Evian-Bains, France.

In 1965, exiled King Farouk of Egypt died in Rome, Italy.

In 1970, Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk was deposed as Cambodia's chief of state while on a visit to Moscow.

Ten years ago: the United States protested to the Soviet Union over detention of three crewmen of an American military plane shot down over East Germany.

Five years ago: the United States and the Soviet Union proposed an international treaty to bar nuclear weapons from the ocean floor.

One year ago: President Lon Nol of Cambodia ordered stern measures under a state of emergency declared after the bombing of the presidential palace in Phnom Penh.

Today's birthdays: Cardinal Lawrence Shehan of Baltimore is 76. Composer Alan Hovhaness is 63.

Fat Is Dangerous To Babies' Health

DUBLIN (AP) — Fat babies are a problem of modern society, say doctors at St. James Hospital in Dublin. They have a greater tendency to infections of the upper respiratory tract, like pneumonia. They are more likely than thin children to have stomach troubles like enteritis and appendicitis.

"But have you given your marriage a fair chance?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am planning a three-week concentrated work holiday in Russia.

We are taking along our two young children. I know there are special diseases in tropical countries. Are there any unusual medical problems that exist in the colder climate of Russia?

Mr. E. S. B., N.J.

Dear Mr. B.:

People like yourself who are planning to stay in any foreign land are wise to inquire about special precautions that safeguard health.

Your local Board of Health receives daily bulletins from the Contagious Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga. These bulletins report to the nation any unusual outbreak of disease and give protective precautions against them.

This, of course, applies to visiting any foreign country.

If special inoculations are necessary they will suggest it. Routine immunization against cholera, typhoid and yellow fever are not always necessary, but are suggested if there happens to be any current outbreak.

There has been much discussion about the need for smallpox vaccination. Formerly, this was necessary in order to return to the United States. Even though America has abandoned this ruling, it must be remembered that certain foreign countries still demand evidence of vaccination before admitting visitors.

What is the cause of "weeping eczema" of the ear canal? Sometimes my ear is unbearably and painfully encrusted.

Miss G. B., Ind.

Dear Miss B.:

"Weeping eczema" is a dermatitis, or inflammation of the skin, that lines the outer ear canal.

Almost always it is caused by some allergy to hair lacquer, hair dyes, eye makeup, sprays, and interestingly, nail polish.

It is called "weeping" because it oozes a fine serum. If unattended, the skin can become infected, and a double problem of infection and allergy exists.

It is imperative to find out what the offending substance is if recurrent attacks are to be avoided.

Treatment with antibiotics and cortisone and wet dressings is effective in control of the pain, the itching and the swelling that accompany this condition.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The most powerful economic mind in the Nixon administration, outgoing Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz cannot be portrayed in a snapshot. From different angles he seemed to be many men.

This in part may be attributed to the countless facts of Shultz' job as assistant to the President for economic policy, which required him to coordinate seemingly disparate policies into a philosophy of government.

To some degree he succeeded. His integrity, professionalism and knowledge of economic matters brought him respect and trust from counterparts abroad. But domestically, government policy confused many people.

Shultz and his associates inherited problems that previous administrations had failed to tackle head on. They did so. The long-delayed devaluation, for instance, was accomplished during Shultz' years.

As a result, the still fragile but more realistic world monetary system is now looking forward, however shakily, instead of toward a devastating collapse that was feared by some of the world's leaders.

Domestically, however, the administration seemed to stumble from one phase of price controls to another, always expressing distaste for the role it was playing and, critics maintain, playing the role only half-heartedly.

An orderly thinker, Shultz during the past few years has had to deal with an economic situation termed a mess by a good many business and academic economists.

Inflation intensified rather than receded. The administration ran up roughly $60 billion in budget deficits. Unemployment never got down to the original goal of 4 per cent, and it is rising again.

Much of the poor domestic image was self-created by the continual declaration of goals that couldn't be met and by the incessant, futile promise by other administration spokesmen that the worst was over. Clearly, it wasn't.

To many critics, Shultz was an enigma. Widely known as a proponent of free markets, he was consistent in advocating lower trade barriers and in stating his belief that the central government didn't belong in the market place.

During his five years, however, the federal government moved into the market place in almost inextinguishable ways. Never since World War II—or in peacetime since the great depression of the 1930s—have government been so involved.

A school of thought exists that Shultz and his associates had little opportunity to put into action the theories in which they believed. Practical demands, it is said, simply overwhelmed philosophical considerations.

Inflation, for example, is far less a domestic matter than it was 10 or 20 years ago. The world's trading nations are more intricately related, and internal imbalances spread like contagion.

The entire industrialized world is fighting inflation, partly because every one of them is committed to running its economy intensively in order to satisfy the rising aspirations of millions of people seeking a better life.

Opposed to wage-price controls as a method of checking inflation, Shultz and his associates nevertheless submitted to public pressure. The alternative was an induced recession, which ironically may have come anyway.

Atop all this came a unique economic dimension: shortages. The world had never before had to deal with massive shortfalls of so many major commodities, and no programs were available to deal with the problem smoothly.

The summation of Shultz' years can only be made when a more historical perspective can be achieved years from now.

But one observation with which many observers of various persuasions might agree is that Shultz has been an informed, sturdy executive who was forced to learn that every economic position today is a political one also, and that politics is the art of compromise.

Soviets Planning Farm Expansion

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today disclosed details of a massive 15-year agricultural project to transform 124 million virgin acres into arable crop and grazing lands.

If successful, the new Kremlin program would increase Russia's grain-producing lands by about 30 per cent and provide substantial help in resolving the country's perennial agriculture problems.

Pravda revealed details of the program, first announced Friday by Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev in Alma Ata, the capital of Kazakhstan.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for 1973 Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) Is it true that if you are expecting a refund and you file your return in March, you will get your refund sooner?

(A) Yes. Because fewer taxpayers file in March than the peak filing month of April, the IRS is able to process your return and issue your refund quicker at this time. Of course, your return must contain no mistakes that would delay processing.

(Q) Can anyone under 65 ever qualify for the retirement income credit?

(A) Yes. If you are under 65, you may qualify for the retirement income credit if you receive retirement income from a public retirement system, such as those set up for Federal, state, or local government employees, armed forces personnel, public school teachers and policemen.

Remember, if you are eligible to claim the retirement income credit, you can have the IRS compute it for you. See your tax form instructions and Schedule R for details.

(Q) I'm divorced and have custody of my child. Can I take advantage of the lower tax rates for "heads of household" or must I file as a single taxpayer?

(A) Generally, you can file as a head of household if you meet the following requirements:

(1) You must be unmarried on the last day of your tax year.

(2) You must maintain a household and contribute over half the cost of maintaining it.

(3) Your unmarried child must live with you in the household you maintain as the principal residence of both you and your child. The child need not be your dependent.

(Q) What are some checks I can make to avoid an error on my return?

(A) To insure the prompt processing of your return, you should check the following before sending your return: (1) be sure all your mathematical computations are correct; (2) be sure you use the correct tax table or tax rate schedule; (3) be sure you use the peel-off label (with any name or address corrections) from the cover of your tax forms package; (4) be sure that your return is signed and dated; joint returns must have the signatures of husband and wife; and (5) be certain all W-2 Forms and supporting documents are attached to your return.

(Q) What form should I use to compute my child care deduction?

(A) IRS Form 2441, "Expenses for Household and Dependent Care Services," or equivalent computation detail should be submitted with your return, if you deduct child care expenses. Use the order blank on the back of your tax form package to obtain a copy or request one at a local IRS office.

IRS Publications 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care," describes the requirements for the deduction. It's available free by also using the order blank.

(Q) I noticed there are two places on the 1973 Federal income tax return to check off tax dollars to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. Did you make a mistake?

(A) No. On the 1973 returns, taxpayers have the opportunity to check off $1 ($2 if married filing jointly) for 1973 and, if they did not check off on their 1972 return, this may be done on the 1973 return also.

(Q) I don't live in a county. Do I still have to fill in this block on my tax return?

(A) Yes, you must fill in the block. But see your tax form instructions for information on what to do in these circumstances.

Ohio Crashes Claim 9 Lives Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine persons died in weekend traffic accidents in Ohio, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The Patrol began the count at 6 p.m. Friday, ending it at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

COLUMBUS — Daniel Lee Roberts, 19, Columbus, when he lost control of his motorcycle and ran into a tree on a city street.

MARION — William Darling Jr., 39, of Monroeville, in a two-car collision at the intersection of Ohio 98 and 529 southeast of Marion.

WARREN — David Kellar, 21, Newton Falls, in a single-car crash on a road in Trumbull County.

CLEVELAND — Charles Sloan, no age, Cleveland, in a one-car accident within city limits.

SATURDAY

WOOSTER — Robert D. Clinton, 27, of Orrville, when he jumped from a moving car on a Wayne County road. Authorities said it was an apparent suicide.

FRIDAY NIGHT

CONNEAUT — Elizabeth Baco, 71, of Conneaut, when struck by a car while walking along U.S. 20 in Ashtabula County.

MONROEVILLE — Leona Walton, 61, of Monroeville, when her car and another car collided with a bus at the intersection of U.S. 20 and Ohio 99 in Monroeville.

PORTSMOUTH — William Kopp, 38, of Waverly, in a one-car crash on U.S. 23 north of Portsmouth.

OSU Senior Drowns While Skin Diving

KEY LARGO, Fla. (AP) — Terry Gene Grieser, 21, of Springfield, Ohio, a senior at Ohio State University, drowned Sunday while on a skin diving outing with a group of friends.

Authorities said Grieser, who had been vacationing here since Thursday, became separated from his friends. His body later was found lying on the bottom.

Law Protects Stripper Wells

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unlike some others proposing superboards, price rollbacks and the like to fight the energy crisis, one member of the Ohio House has offered a grass roots proposal.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, introduced a measure that seeks to keep small producing so-called stripper wells—those producing 10 barrels or less a day—from being plugged and abandoned.

"There is presently considerable pressure to plug wells that are not heavy producers because of the current shortage of well pipe," said Speck.

Speck's bill, which applies both to gas and oil wells, would require owners of small wells to offer to sell them to owners of the land before having the right to plug and abandon them.

The New Concord legislator said his legislation is needed because in a number of instances "well producers have been abandoning and plugging wells that were still producing at a reasonable enough level to provide a land owner and his neighbors with gas."

"When the well is plugged," said Speck, "a usable resource is lost and the landowner is left without any fuel."

Under the terms of the bill, the well owner would be required to offer to sell the well at a fair market price, fixed by three disinterested persons. The well owner would choose one appraiser, the land owner another, and they would name the third by mutual agreement.

The procedure would apply only after the land owner had given notice of his interest in purchasing the well. Notice that he was not interested would be sufficient to allow the well owner to go ahead and plug.

While Speck regards the pipe shortage as temporary, he said "once a well is plugged that is the end of it."

The Muskingum County lawmaker

said he knows of some instances where wells were plugged and abandoned while still producing.

"Four or five farmers in my district advised me that this happened," he said.

Hundreds of oil wells in Ohio, many originally drilled during the oil boom of the 1890's, lie abandoned with 50 per cent of their oil still in the ground.

Modern technology hasn't yet come up with an economic means of recovering that last 50 per cent.

"There's undoubtedly large amounts of oil in those wells," said George Abraham of Standard Oil's natural resources division, "but the technology is lacking to recover it."

Committee Continues Support For Glenn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County Democratic executive committee has maintained its support of former astronaut John Glenn for the party's nomination in the May primary.

The committee continued its endorsement of Glenn Saturday, despite the state committee's backing of incumbent U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum.

Otherwise, the county group brought its endorsements in line with the state organization's.

But it gave an unusual dual endorsement for secretary of state to state Sen. Tony P. Hall of Dayton and Beverly A. Bingle of Columbus, despite the objection of Miss Bingle. She said it was a "clear violation of the rules."

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Monday March 18, 1974

Slides Of Holy Land Garden Club Program

Charles Hickey showed colored slides of the Holy Land as the program for the March meeting of Pickaway County Garden Club at First Presbyterian Church. He was introduced by Mrs. Sidney Ayers, program chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickey visited Israel a year ago hoping to capture something he said, but they were captured instead by the feeling of nearness to the Lord and by the love of the people shown to travelers. They enjoyed a feeling of complete safety while there.

The itinerary included a visit to the Dead Sea, Nazareth, along the Jordan river, Galilee and the Mount of Olives. Many of the lovely churches and other buildings have been built since Christ's time on earth. Some are very ornate and beautifully tiled. The birthplace in the cave is quite ornate with the manger and each area located as they were originally.

Trees and other vegetation along the Jordan and other areas grow abundantly. The Garden of Gethsemane looks quite modern with its colorful plantings but still contains the rock on which Jesus prayed and the olive trees are said to have come from roots of the olive trees which stood when Jesus was there.

There is still the Sepulcher where Jesus' body lay. With differing opinions about precise location, Mr. Hickey said a young man in Israel pointed out that location is not the most important factor but that we are given freedom to make our own choice of the life we lead.

Hostesses for the carry-in dinner were: Mrs. James G. Scott, chairman; Mrs. E. E. Porter, Mrs. John Mast, Mrs. Rosemary Strickland, Mrs. Robert Rickerd, Mrs. Charles Jolliffe and Mrs. Paul Butz. They decorated the tables with vases of daffodils, pussy willow and forsythia.

Mrs. Theodore Huston, president, welcomed guests and conducted the business session. Two new members, Mrs. Lyle Anundson and Mrs. Bill Payton were welcomed.

Miriam Weaver, chairman of the Stage's Pond Fund, read letters from William Nye of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and Professor Deryl of the Ohio Chapter of Nature Conservancy, commending the groups which worked on preservation of the pond.

Pickaway County Garden Club will sponsor a Junior Garden Club in the Garden Club of Ohio with Marilyn Huffer as leader of the newly formed group.

Pictures for a conservation coloring contest have been distributed to fifth grade children in Circleville Schools. Basis for the picture was a snapshot of

Baby Shower Fetes Mrs. J. Crabtree

Mrs. James Crabtree was honored with a baby shower Sunday afternoon hosted by Mrs. Tom Garrett and Mrs. William Hoover at the Hoover residence, Route 1, Amanda.

Yellow, green and white were the colors used in decorations which included a doll baby sitting under an umbrella as a centerpiece.

Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Larry Sykes, Mrs. Jim Davis, Mrs. Orin Bircher and Mrs. Larry Keaton.

Snowball ice cream, cake, chocolate chip cookies, floral mints, nuts, coffee and tea were served.

Guests were: Mrs. Harley Hoover, Mrs. William Joyce, Mrs. Robert Hedges and Katie, Mrs. Dora Hedges, Mrs. Lester Crabtree, Rosalie Kuhn, Mrs. Bob Bobbitt.

Mrs. Larry Keaton, Miss Sandy Crabtree, Mrs. Earl Sykes, Mrs. Larry Sykes, Mrs. Phillip Davis, Mrs. Jim Davis, Mrs. Orin Bircher and Miss Ann Francis.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were Miss Sharon Crabtree, Mrs. Tom Kuhn, Mrs. Dennis Hartsaugh and Mrs. Norman McPherson.

Mrs. John Schuman Feted With Party

Mrs. John Wenrich Schuman of Stoutsville was the guest of honor at a party celebrating her 80th birthday recently at her home.

Mrs. Schuman retired last year as organist of Stoutsville Trinity Lutheran Church, a position she held for over 30 years. She also taught piano lessons to many young people in the area.

Before coming to Stoutsville she resided with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Meyers in Detroit, Mich. She was organist of Nardin Park Methodist-Episcopal Church for many years.

Her father was the Rev. John Wenrick, a Lutheran pastor from Pennsylvania. He married Miss Jeannette Meyers, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Meyers, residents of Stoutsville.

Women's Society of the church and other friends served refreshments. Many friends called at her home to pay their respects.

Election Planned By Guild 45

Officers for the coming year will be elected during the 8 p.m. Friday meeting of Berger Hospital Guild 45 in the home of Mrs. Weldon Owens, 225 Edwards Road.

Dinner Honors Church Teenagers

An appreciation dinner was held Saturday evening at the Stoutsville K of P hall for teenagers of the North Court Street Church of Christ.

Chaperoning the candlelight dinner were the Rev. and Mrs. Roger Massey assisted by elders and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Lee V. Gross and Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Smith.

An arrangement of fresh cut mums centered with a candle enhanced each of the seven tables covered with white cloths.

The elders expressed appreciation to the teenagers for all of their dedication and love toward the congregation and themselves.

Games were played by the young people followed by a fellowship time.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

There's More Than One Way

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that every time a person has sexual relations he burns up 300 calories.

I would like to lose 10 pounds, and my husband would like to lose 20 pounds.

Do you recommend this method of losing weight? And how many calories would a person have to burn to lose one pound?

NO PUT ON

DEAR NO: I'm advised that one must burn 3,500 calories to lose one pound of body fat. There can be no reliable figure on the number of calories burned during sexual relations because physical exertion varies with the individual.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the seven year old Lutheran boy who wanted to turn Jewish because his sister who was being raised Jewish, got seven presents, one for each day of Hanukkah and he only got one present for Christmas.

His parents should give him seven presents for Christmas and let him decide whether he wants to go to the Protestant route or the Jewish route.

He might even decide to be a Roman Catholic and go to Notre Dame and beat U.C.L.A. again some day!

BILL K.

DEAR BILL: Judging from some of the names of those fellows on Notre Dame's teams, you don't have to be a Roman Catholic to play for Notre Dame.

Radio Extortion Plot Broken Up With 3 Arrests

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A court hearing has been scheduled here next Monday for three persons charged with extortion for allegedly attempting to force a New York radio station to air their views.

Being held in Stark County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond were Larry N. Cooper, 26; Gwendolyn McCutcheon, 21, and Carol Holmes, 19, a Wooster College sophomore.

The FBI in Cleveland said the three were arrested in Wooster after they called radio station WABC several times Saturday demanding air time or they would kill a hostage.

The FBI said the trio told the radio station to provide four hours of broadcast time for a taped statement or they would kill the hostage and commit suicide.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

TRAFFIC SAFETY SLOGAN—Frank Ryan, left, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, was the guest speaker at the Ohio Association of Insurance Agents safety meeting. Attending from Circleville was Richard E. Plum, right, president of the Pickaway County Independent Insurance Agents Association. The safety slogan contest, closing April 1, offers a grand prize as the free use of a 1974 compact with insurance coverage for one year. First, second and third place state winners in the children and youth category will receive 10-speed bicycles and will be presented an award by Governor John J. Gilligan, and a tour of the State House. Entry blanks may be obtained from members of the Ohio Association of Insurance Agents, Inc., or the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, 240 Parsons Ave., Columbus.

Old Age Is An Angry Time

By JIM BISHOP

Within me there is a deep interest in old people, because I am prepping to be one. I will be an old gaffer or I will be dead, and I'd rather be an old gaffer.

In spite of travel, we have spent considerable time in Florida—and this state, as you know, is the burial ground of the rhinestone elephants. They buy condominiums and glare balefully at the sunshine and grapefruit.

The retirees of Florida do not differ from those elsewhere, except that in the Sunshine State you have an excellent chance of passing on with a tan.

A chronically diminished blood supply to the brain rattles judgment, induces negative opinions and excuses bad manners. Old couples in supermarkets engage in Battles of the Carts the way the knights of King Arthur unhorsed each other in jousting.

Some will not walk across a street unless the light is red. Then, in spite of squealing rubber and horns, they continue to the opposite curb to turn and glare, "Go ahead. Kill me."

Age, which touches mankind at varying calendar years, demands more of everything and receives less. Example (my father): "Are you sure you want me to live with you? Every morning I've been getting five prunes. Now it's down to four."

Old gentlemen and old ladies feel no morale boost when they study the face in the mirror every morning. The old man must shave his, staring at the poached eyes and the gelatinous chins. The old lady must effect a daily miracle: apply unguents to those features and make them attractive one more time.

Living with that vision isn't easy.

Search Given Up For 2 Lost At Sea

BAYPORT, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard gave up its search Sunday for M. W. Denslow, 78, of Ashland, Ohio, and his son, C. R. Denslow, 45, of Brooksville, Fla., who were lost at sea after their fishing boat capsized.

Two other members of the fishing party, James Heisserer of Brooksville and Charles Blyth of Tampa were rescued Saturday, nearly 24 hours after the accident.

Knowing that the children are grown and busy with their own families is no solace. "I wish," my mother said on her 50th anniversary, "that you were all little again and had to do as I tell you."

An elderly lady is, let us bear in mind, a wife, a mother, a housekeeper, a sister and, long ago, a dutiful daughter. Most of the physical love has dissipated with the onset of Medicare. She sits. She studies her fingers. She sews a little. Reads a little. Watches the afternoon soap operas. Wonders whether to unfreeze three lamb chops or four.

The man is in limbo. Now that he can sleep as late as he pleases, he can't sleep. Once he had a job, a business, a career. Now he thinks that if he cleans the ashtrays, the walking will help his arthritis.

He finds that he has become intemperate. He "blows up" over inconsequential matters, but hasn't learned how to apologize. To kill time, he and his wife wander in and out of movies. "What was the plot?" he says on the way home. "I mean, not counting the dirty parts."

Usually, he votes against rather than for a candidate. Part of his enjoyment may be in attending town council meetings and harassing the mayor. His shouting incoherencies makes him feel that he has "fixed them," but it wrecks his blood pressure.

Each morning, between awakening and the second cup of coffee, they must rehammer their frames together to withstand the rigors of another day. It isn't fun to anyone who can recall youth as though it was last week. This accounts for some of the bad manners in public.

If, to use a slippery norm, the 60th birthday is the start of old age, then we have scores of millions of old people whose experience and wisdom is not put to use. They are wasted because we don't have enough work for our young.

Old age also brings unwanted thoughts about death. It's a little closer now, and it does not help to learn, from week to week, "Guess who died yesterday? You'd never believe it. Never had a sick day in his life . . ."

My father, at 85, said he felt no triumph. "What good is it? I have outlived your mother and all our friends. Who is left? Me. And when I talk, who knows what I'm talking about. You? Your kids?"

To be old and busy making a buck is good. To be old and rich and out of work is bad. Man was born to produce as woman was born to reproduce. It is when these functions are foreclosed that the bitterness of age begins.

The anger of age appears to be directed outwardly, to loved ones. It isn't. It is nourished by an inward dissatisfaction with the so-called "fruits of life." The most important event may be a Social Security check in the mail box. But no one ever signed one: "With love . . ."

COLUMBIAGAS

AAA Ohio Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two-time all-stater Mark Bayless of Chillicothe, an all-purpose guard, today was named The Associated Press Class AAA Ohio High School Basketball Player of the Year.

The AP also selected Bob Rupert of state poll champion Canton McKinley as its Class AAA State Coach of the Year.

The selections were based on regular season performances only and were selected on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Bayless, a 6-foot-2 senior, was the lone player to make the first team for the second straight season. He also was selected twice as the Southeastern District Player of the Year.

The fifth leading scorer in Chillicothe history averaged 21.3 points, eight rebounds and five assists a game this winter despite injuries.

Rupert, Canton McKinley's coach for 13 years, guided the Bulldogs to an 18-0 regular season. Rupert also has turned out three state poll champions in his McKinley career.

Before tournament play began, Rupert had piled up a 333-88 career record, including a 243-50 mark at McKinley.

Bayless edged 6-7 Terry Burris of

Columbus Whitehall, the reigning state high jump champion who averaged 23.7 points, and 6-8 Lawrence Boston of Cleveland Kennedy, with a 24.5 average, as the Player of the Year.

Burris and Boston also landed first team berths on the allstate team. Both are seniors.

Also on the No. 1 unit were 6-6½ Randy Ayers of Springfield North, 6-5 Tim Joyce of Youngstown Ursuline, 6-5 Mike Reardon of Fremont Ross, 6-1 Mike Styles of Steubenville and 6-3 Terry Crosby of Toledo DeVilbiss.

All are seniors except Crosby, a junior.

On the second team were Ted

Williams of Mount Vernon, Jud Wood of Columbus Northland, Bernard Newman of Piqua, Burrell McGhee of Warren Western Reserve, Stan Hall of Canton McKinley, Frank Steele of Toledo Scott, Harry Davis of Cleveland Latin and Chuck Booms of Elyria.

Third team berths went to Norvair Morgan of Trotwood Madison, Dave Heck of New Philadelphia, Gary Jackson of Toledo Waite, Bo Clemens of Portsmouth, Brian Stertz of Columbus Eastmoor, Mark Mace of Athens, Vic Watkins of Canton South and Charles Watkins of East Cleveland Shaw.

Detroit Tigers Still Look Like 3rd Place Team

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The optimistic banter is much like it is most years in spring training for the Detroit Tigers.

"If we get off to a good start, I think we'll make some people eat crow," says pitcher Joe Coleman.

"I think we're going to surprise a lot of people," adds outfielder Jim Northrup. "The critics have written us off, but we've got a lot of guys who want to win."

"Baltimore is the team to beat and we have as good a chance as anyone else of beating them," chimes in new Manager Ralph Houk.

The Tigers still have the ability to battle with the contenders — but when it's all over, it looks like they'll be third in the American League East, behind Baltimore and Boston.

Having guys who want to win might help, but it won't help overcome Detroit's questionable pitching staff, lack of hitting superstars and absence of speed.

Al Kaline will be the designated hitter and can reach the 3,000-hit circle with 139 more hits. He has a .299 career batting average but beyond him, nobody can routinely be expected to hit .300.

There are good hitters like Willie Horton, Northrup and Bill Freehan — but they are inconsistent. The team was second in the league with 157 home runs last season — but it seems to have passed the point where the long ball can do it all for them. In 1973, for instance, Norm Cash led the team in homers with 19 — but had only 40 runs batted in.

Aurelio Rodriguez leads an outstanding defensive lineup and may be the best fielding third baseman in the league, but his .222 average and team-leading RBI count of 58 won't scare many teams. Center fielder Mickey Stanley and shortstop Ed Brinkman are the other superior defensive players.

Coleman and Mickey Lolich have averaged 21 victories apiece the past three years, but who can say whether either can keep it up?

It's strictly a wait-and-see situation as to who the other starting pitchers will be. They will come from among veterans Woodie Fryman, Jim Perry, newcomer Luke Walker and youngsters Fred Holdsworth, Lerrin LaGrow and Bill Slayback. John Hiller is among the best relief pitchers in baseball and is looking to newcomer Jim Ray and perhaps Chuck Seelbach for help.

The biggest spring training battle is for second base between rookie John Knox and journeyman Gary Sutherland, his roommate who was with Houston last year. Either is capable of handling the job vacated when Dick McAuliffe was traded to Boston.

A new atmosphere of looseness pervades the camp in contrast to the tenseness generated under the regime of former Manager Billy Martin. But can such a change produce better results?

There'll be surprises. There always are. But there are bound to be in individual disappointments and only the Tiger superfans can expect a pennant this season.

Komets Top Wings, 4-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sunday night was a big one for the Fort Wayne Komets, as they broke a 12-game losing streak by dumping the Port Huron Wings 4-2 in International Hockey League action.

The Komets led the entire game, mounting a 1-0 lead after one period. They had a 2-1 margin after the second stanza and stretched the margin with two goals in the final period. No player scored more than once.

In other games, Des Moines dropped Flint 6-2, Columbus clugged Dayton 4-2 and Saginaw dumped Muskegon, also 4-2.

Des Moines got its victory with four third period goals, which followed two opening period scores which were only 50 seconds apart. Pete Mara scored twice to maintain his hot pace as the league's leading scorer.

John Heffern's two goals made up the difference for Columbus, which closed out its home season. Marcel Comeau put the winning goal over the line for Saginaw, as three teammates aided the victory with Gears' goals.

Prep Cage Action Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Top-ranked Canton McKinley, Akron Manchester and Lorain Clearview are solid favorites to win the three divisional championships in the 52nd Ohio High School Basketball Tournament this week.

McKinley, an overwhelming choice as the state Class AAA poll champion, brings a 24-0 record into the semifinals and finals in Ohio State's St. John Arena.

Manchester, the only other unbeaten team remaining with a 24-0 mark, was ranked second in the final state Class AA ratings. Clearview, 22-2, was No. 4 in Class A.

The Class A schools begin the three-day tournament Thursday night.

Mount Blanchard Riverdale, 21-3 and rated 17th, plays seventh-ranked Pitsburg Franklin-Monroe, 24-3, at 7:30. Clearview takes on 1972 champion Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, unranked this season with a 20-4 record, in the 9:30 nightcap.

In Class AA semifinals Friday, Manchester is matched with No. 21 Cincinnati McNicholas, 19-6, at 11 a.m. and third-ranked Genoa, 22-1, tangles with unranked Columbus Hartley, 19-5, at 2:30 p.m.

In Class AAA semifinals Friday night, defending champion Cincinnati Elder, 21-3 and 16th rated, plays 1922 king Mount Vernon, 19-4 and No. 19, at 6. McKinley draws No. 17 Toledo Scott, 22-2, at 9:30.

The Class A title game will be played at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, followed by the Class AA showdown at 3 p.m. and the Class AAA championship at 7:30 p.m.

Columbus Ready, the 1973 Class AA champion, and Marion Pleasant, last year's Class A ruler, were eliminated earlier in the playoffs.

McKinley is making its 14th trip to the state semifinals without a previous championship. The Bulldogs have been beaten seven times in the semifinals and six in the title contest.

Meanwhile, Elder and Indian Valley South try to stretch their success stories another chapter.

Elder went undefeated in 1972 football and won the basketball, baseball and cross country state crowns in 1973.

Indian Valley South, coached by easy-going, shrewd Charlie Huggins,

Dale Bandy OU Coach

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Dale Bandy, assistant basketball coach at Ohio University, has been elevated to the top spot, replacing Jim Snyder, who resigned at the end of the season.

Dale, a 36-year-old Ohio U. graduate, said, "It's a tremendous challenge and one that I'm certainly looking forward to."

Bandy, a native of Portsmouth, played on Snyder's 1959-60 Mid-American Conference championship team. After coaching in the high school ranks, Bandy joined Snyder as an assistant for the 1963-64 season.

"It's going to be a tough act to follow, with Jim's seven championships in the last 14 years, and it will be our goal to continue this winning tradition," Bandy said.

Ohio U. Athletic Director Bill Rohr, who announced Bandy's appointment over the weekend, said he is "very deserving of the job. He knows the game. He is OU oriented, and I consider him a class young man."

lost all of its starters from last year and yet has reached the final four for the third straight season.

In Class AAA regional championships Saturday night, McKinley bombed Boardman 98-71, Scott edged Lorain King 59-55, Mount Vernon ousted Columbus Brookhaven 62-42 and Elder eliminated seven-time state king Middletown 79-62.

In Class AA regionals, Manchester wheeled by Twinsburg Chamberlin 75-58, Hartley nipped Tiltonsville Buckeye South 77-76, McNicholas beat Camden Preble Shawnee 76-63 and Genoa thumped Elyria Catholic 64-48.

In Class A Regionals, Pitsburg Franklin-Monroe knocked off Pleasant 64-52, Riverdale defeated Continental 60-58 in overtime, Clearview nudged Dalton 58-56 and Indian Valley South slipped by Peebles 43-41.

Buffalo Sabres Top Minnesota, 5-2

By The Associated Press

Rick Martin is shooting more and the Buffalo Sabres' opponents are enjoying it less.

"I talked to Martin after Saturday night's tie in St. Louis," said Buffalo Coach Joe Crozier, "and I told him he wasn't shooting the puck enough. He was making an extra deke when he should have been shooting."

The result was that Martin took six shots on the Minnesota goal Sunday and three of them got past goalie Gump Worsley, pacing the Sabres to a 5-2 triumph and keeping their slim playoff hopes alive.

Elsewhere in the National Hockey League, the Atlanta Flames and Chicago Black Hawks tied 3-3, the Boston Bruins beat the New York Rangers 5-2, the Montreal Canadiens downed the New York Islanders 4-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers and Toronto Maple Leafs tied 2-2.

A NEW VOLKSWAGEN ALWAYS SEEMS TO COME ALONG WHEN YOU NEED IT.

Volkswagen has thrown away the book again.

The result is Dasher, an amazing new car that's going to take them years to imitate.

Dasher is both economical (about 25 miles per gallon) and powerful (0-50 in 8.5 seconds). It holds five comfortably. It has front-wheel drive that gives you more control and traction than any conventional car you've ever driven. It's equipped with Skid-breaker, which prevents most skidding under adverse conditions. It's designed for low maintenance and easy repair. And it's covered by the VW Owner's Security Blanket.

Cards Defeat Red Sox; 4-3

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

The continuing saga of Reggie Smith and Carlton Fisk — former teammates now gone separate ways to their mutual satisfaction — seems to have a way of sneaking from the locker room to the diamond.

The stage was set for the saga's latest act by a game between the Boston Red Sox, Smith's former team, and his new team, the St. Louis Cardinals.

Smith took a few pot shots at Fisk before the game, calling the Boston catcher a "crybaby" and "backstabber," then took another shot at pitcher Diego Segui in the ninth inning, sending Segui's first pitch out of the park and helping the Cards to a 4-3 exhibition victory over the Red Sox.

Meanwhile, Fisk took a shot of his own, in the fifth inning. It was a foul tip off the bat of Joe Torre that caught the AllStar catcher in the groin and probably will sideline him for two or three days.

Smith's homer tied the game at 3-3, and then Ken Reitz singled in the winning score with two out.

In other exhibition games, the other half of the Boston club beat Philadelphia 10-7, Los Angeles squashed the New York Mets 9-2, Minnesota beat Houston 9-5, Cincinnati blanked Atlanta 7-0, Baltimore defeated Pittsburgh 7-3, the Chicago White Sox got by Kansas City 8-5, the Chicago Cubs beat Oakland 6-2, San Francisco defeated California 8-2, Montreal blasted Texas 5-1, Cleveland downed Milwaukee 3-1, and the Yankees pummeled Detroit 5-1.

"I'm glad to get away from a crybaby like Fisk," Smith said. He said since the 1973 campaign, "I've only seen his picture in the paper and read all that stuff he's been saying behind my back. He didn't have the nerve to say it to my face."

Fisk retaliated by calling Smith "a troublemaker," but would not discuss the situation further, keeping his distance from Smith during the game. Neither exchanged words.

Steve Carlton was tagged for six runs in three innings, and outfielder Bernie Carbo got four singles and drove in three runs to lead the other half of the Boston contingent. Rick Wise got the victory by holding Philadelphia scoreless for five innings.

Ron Cey, who has six RBIs in his past two games, had a homer and a single in Los Angeles' rendering of the New York Mets. Dave Lopes stole three bases for the Dodgers.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers announced that third baseman Ken McMullen had left the club to join his wife, Bobbie, who is seriously ill and being hospitalized in California. Mrs. McMullen underwent surgery last May for cancer.

Bob Darwin homered for two runs, and Steve Braun's circuit blow drove in another three, pacing Minnesota to its first victory of the exhibition season. Houston took a 3-1 lead after Harmon Killebrew had put the Twins on the board with a single in the first inning.

Cincinnati exploded for 17 hits and pitchers Pat Osburn, Steve Kealey and Pat Zachery held the Braves scoreless in the Reds' victory. Ken Griffey led the Reds at the plate with three hits, while Atlanta slugger Hank Aaron went hitless in four at-bats.

Pittsburgh committed four costly errors in the game, and the Orioles jumped to a 5-2 lead in the fourth inning on four runs off Pirate starter Bruce Kison. Inos Cabell had three RBIs for Baltimore.

The White Sox scored seven runs off Marty Pattin in the first three innings to move to an easy victory over Kansas City. Jorge Orta had two singles and a homer with four RBIs for Chicago.

The Cubs got homers from Vic Harris and Jerry Morales, and Bill Madlock added three hits to pace Chicago past the world champion A's. Madlock, in 29 at-bats, has 18 hits for a .620 average so far in preseason play.

Three Giant pitchers — John D'Acquisto, Frank Riccielli, and Mike Caldwell — held California to three hits, and San Francisco tagged Nolan Ryan for five runs in four innings, including Chris Speier's solo homer.

Bob Bailey doubled twice, scored two runs and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly for Montreal.

The Expos touched Texas relief pitcher Pete Broberg for three runs in the fifth inning.

Charlie Spikes doubled in Cleveland's winning run, and shortstop Frank Duffy, who had homered to tie the game in the third inning, scored an insurance run in the Indians' victory over Milwaukee.

Bobby Murcer personally accounted for three Yankee runs that carried the New York club past Detroit, now managed by former Yankee mentor Ralph Houk. Murcer doubled home two runs and scored the other himself in the first meeting of the two teams since Houk gave up the Yankee reins.

Cotton Exports Slowed By Pinch

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department experts said today U.S. cotton exports are being backed up as a result of transportation difficulties and that as much as 1.3 million bales may not be shipped until next season.

H. Reiter Webb, director of the cotton division of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, said further that more than 3.1 million bales of additional cotton from the 1974 crop had been sold by mid-February for export delivery in the 1974-75 season beginning next Aug. 1.

"Thus, as much as 4.4 million bales may be committed for export (next season), three million of which are from a crop not even planted," Webb said in a weekly issue of Foreign Agriculture published by the agency.

Cotton exports for the current 1973-74 season are officially estimated at about 5.5 million bales, but those include the 1.3 million Webb says may not be shipped until next crop year.

Last week USDA said surveys on March 1 indicated farmers intend to plant 14.8 million acres of cotton this spring, up 18 per cent from 1973.

Webb said cotton plantings worldwide this year may increase about 3.3 per cent, based upon soundings by USDA agricultural attaches stationed abroad. However, he said, production may not increase that much because of lower yields per acre.

Even so, Webb said, cotton production in the 1974-75 season in 20 major producing countries — which account for nearly 90 per cent of foreign output — is expected to be at record levels and range between 48 million and 49.5 million bales, compared with 47 million produced in 1973-74.

Cotton use in foreign countries is expected to rise to about 54 million bales, up from 51 million in the current year. That means a deficit between foreign production and use of between four million and six million bales.

Webb said U.S. cotton exports, not counting amounts which may not be shipped from the current season, are expected to be around 5.5 million bales, the same as the gross shipments for the current year.

In a companion report, the Foreign Agricultural Service said U.S. cotton sales to the Peoples Republic of China for the marketing year ending next Sept. 30 total more than one million bales, up from 587,000 in 1972-73. Contracts for selling cotton to China next season already total more than 376,000 bales.

The report said competition for land to grow food continues strong in China and that cotton production in the country probably will not increase soon.

"Thus, it appears reasonable to assume that cotton imports (by China) will continue at a high level, although probably at a slightly more reduced magnitude," the report said.

UCLA Gears Up For N.C. State

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

UCLA, favored to win its eighth straight National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship, geared up for Saturday's semifinal meeting with top-ranked North Carolina State at Greensboro, N.C., with some old fashioned sabre-rattling.

Coach John Wooden sounded the challenge when he recalled the Bruins' 84-66 romp over the Wolfpack last December in St. Louis.

"I want them to remember we beat

Hubert Green Jacksonville Golf Winner

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Hubert Green's going to have to change his act.

For a couple of seasons, the lanky, laconic young man from Birmingham, Ala., has characterized himself as "just another pretty face on the tour."

But his credentials are getting too impressive for that now. He's rapidly becoming one of the game's premier performers.

Green scored his second victory of the year and fourth in the last 12 months with a gritty comeback performance Sunday in the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf tournament.

He won it with a 71 that included a decisive four birdies in a row and a 276 total, 12 under par on the 7,088-yard Deerwood Country Club course and a comfortable three strokes in front of John Mahaffey.

Mahaffey matched par 72 in the mild, sunny, slightly windy weather, and finished at 279. Jerry Heard, first and second in his two previous performances, came on to take third with a 68-280.

Jim Weichers suffered another bitter, frustrating disappointment. The big guy, who has been in position to win a half dozen times in the last year, entered the final round in a tie with Green for the top, actually took the lead at one stage then again fell victim to a poor finish.

He closed with a 40 on the back nine, a 76 and a tie for fourth with DeWitt Weaver and Leonard Thompson at 281. Thompson had a final 70 and Weaver 71.

Columbus Man Leads In Bowling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mike Ryan of Columbus combined team, doubles and singles scores of 697, 713 and 665 for a 2,075 total Sunday to take the lead in the all events division of the 70th annual Ohio State Bowling Association tournament.

He unseated Ted Malicki of Maple Heights, who had held the top spot with a 1,995.

them by 18 points on a neutral court with Bill Walton playing only half the game," declared Wooden. "I want them to dwell on that."

UCLA, 25-3 on the season, made it into the semis with an impressive 83-60 rout of San Francisco Saturday in the finals of the Far West Regionals. All-Americans Keith Wilkes and Bill Walton paced the attack with 27 and 17 points, respectively.

North Carolina State cruised into the finals with a 100-72 thumping of Pittsburgh in the East Regionals. The Wolfpack's only concern was for the well-being of All-American David Thompson, who suffered a concussion when he fell to the floor in the first half. He was hospitalized Saturday night, released Sunday and is expected to be at full speed for UCLA.

Tom Burleson had 26 points and 12 rebounds for the Wolfpack, 28-1 on the year.

The other semifinal Saturday will match Mideast champion Marquette against Midwest titlist Kansas. The Warriors, 25-4, edged Michigan 72-70 on the strength of a pair of free throws by Dave Delsman with 45 seconds left. It marks the first time in nine NCAA appearances Marquette has made it to the semis.

Kansas, 23-5, shaded Oral Roberts 93-90 as reserve Tommie Smith sank a pair of baskets in the final 28 seconds. Danny Knight had 19 points to lead the balanced Jayhawks attack.

At New York's Madison Square Garden, Connecticut, Utah, Boston College and Memphis State scored first-round victories Sunday in the National Invitation Tournament.

Jim Foster pumped in 27 points to lead Connecticut past St. John's, N.Y., 82-70. Tickey Burden's 34 points powered Utah to a 102-89 victory over Rutgers. Jere Nolan's foul shot in the final seconds gave Boston College a 63-62 upset of Cincinnati. Memphis State held off Seton Hall 73-72 by virtue of Dexter Reed's free throw with 30 seconds left.

In Saturday's NIT action, Purdue surprised North Carolina 82-71, Maryland-Eastern Shore dumped Manhattan 84-81, Jacksonville beat Massachusetts in overtime 73-69 and Hawaii edged Fairfield 66-65.

Southern California and Indiana advanced to tonight's finals of the Collegiate Commissioners Association tourney with hard-earned overtime victories Sunday.

The Trojans, 24-4, got by Bradley 76-73 as Dan Anderson and Bob Trowbridge teamed for nine points in the extra period. The Hoosiers, 22-5, edged Toledo 73-72 on a clutch basket by freshman Kent Beson.

West Georgia claimed the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship Saturday with a 97-79 romp over Alcorn State. Tom Turner topped the Braves with 28 points and Clarence Walker, named the tourney's Most Valuable Player, added 24.

Big Red Machine Back On Track

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A trio of new faces fighting for survival on the Cincinnati Reds' pitching staff put the Big Red Machine back on the winning track Sunday.

The Reds, battered for 21 runs in two back-to-back losses, roared back with a 7-0 shutout of the Atlanta Braves.

Rookies Dan Osborn and Pat Zachry combined with newcomer Steve Kealey to register the Reds' second whitewash of the spring.

They permitted only five hits, none of them by slugger Hank Aaron, who made four trips to the plate.

And while the Braves were showing little lift at the plate, Reds' outfielder Cesar Geronimo indicated he doesn't plan to give up the fight for centerfield.

Geronimo suffered through his worst major league season last year, hitting only .210. When the Reds acquired Merv Rettenmund from the Baltimore Orioles, it was assumed Geronimo was ticketed for more bench duty in 1974.

But Geronimo is making a strong bid for the job. His three hits Sunday lifted his batting average to .500.

Asked what snapped him out of his long slump, he replied succinctly: "Rettenmund."

Kealey, who came to the Reds in the Jim McGlothlin trade attributed his sparkling two-hit effort to similar reasons.

"I'm fighting for my life," said Kealey, who suffered through all of 1973 with a sore arm.

"I've got to do it now," said Kealey after his four innings of work.

"I've got to make the major league club. If I get sent to the minor leagues I may be there the rest of my life," he said.

Rookie Ken Griffey teamed up with Geronimo to add three hits to the Reds' 17-hit barrage.

The Reds return to Tampa today to face the Philadelphia Phils. Jack Billingham, who turned in a strong five-inning stint in his last outing, is scheduled to start for Cincinnati.

WEST CHESTER, Ohio (AP) — A light snow turned TriCounty Speedway into an icy oval Sunday and prompted officials to cancel racing after four accident-filled events.

Bob Senneker of Orr, Mich., won the fast car dash and was the top qualifier with a lap time of 19.135 before the decision came down to end the activity.

No one was injured in the accidents.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (March 21 to Apr. 20): You may be called upon to make some weighty decisions. Do not make them in haste. Careful thought, a realistic attitude and logical thinking needed.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A better day and better possibilities than may seem apparent at first. Planetary influences should stimulate your ambitions and incentive.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Look for better ways to handle everyday tasks, with the idea of assuring more efficiency and leaving more time for study, as well as expansion.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You have a fine planetary set-up. Get into the spirit of things and do the most to advance your interests.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Note why many succeed where others fail. Alert observation along these lines could prove profitable. An excellent performance is possible now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Follow through on well-devised plans and procedures, and don't be sidetracked by nonessentials. You can make rapid strides forward if you capitalize on all skills.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Investigate all angles of any new proposition offered, but don't fear the unknown; just get better acquainted with its possibilities—or lack of them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Shut no doors abruptly or you'll regret it. Such action is not like you but on a challenging day such as this, you COULD step out of character.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Tricky in spots, day will demand close attention to details, efficient planning and good follow-through. Avoid making rash promises.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Stretch a point where it will pay off later. A vote of confidence is sometimes necessary to secure the cooperation you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You should have easier sledding than many others now—as long as you are accurate and conduct your affairs with logic and candor. Curb a tendency toward recklessness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Uncertainty could offset your best efforts, so be decisive. Marshal all your talents, will power and experience with a view toward taking brisk steps forward.

Black Caucus Nixes New Party

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Black leaders and organizers have backed off from a proposal to form a national black political party. But they agreed at their convention here to raise $17.5 million for minority causes.

Delegates voted at the final session Sunday to table the controversial motion for a third major party after spokesmen for the Louisiana and Ohio delegations termed it unrealistic and called for its rejection.

The Louisiana delegation spokesman said ideological differences among blacks presently made formation of such a party impractical. The Ohio spokesman said blacks must build a viable base in their local communities before attempting to create a national party.

Conference co-convenor Imam Baraka of Newark, N.J., called tabling of the motion "a reasonable view."

He said the motion will be brought up again at a September meeting of the Black National Political Assembly, which organized the three-day National Black Political Convention here.

Conference delegates earlier ratified a Louisiana delegation motion attacking the National Democratic party for allegedly excluding minorities from its meaningful deliberations.

In voting to raise $17.5 million over the next three years for minority causes, the delegates proposed establishment of a Black United Fund to handle fund-raising effort aimed at small contributors and black businesses and organizations.

They set a timetable of $2.5 million in 1974, $5 million in 1975 and $10 million in 1976. They said the first $2.5 million was based on the assumption that at least 10 per cent of the estimated 25 million blacks in the United States would contribute $1 each.

The money will support a Foundation for Human Development, which will provide resources for human development and economic projects among black minorities around the world. It also will go to support liberation struggles in areas of Africa.

The conference also voted to work for a new Homestead Act for social reconstruction and to coordinate efforts to finance and establish black-owned television and radio stations.

Approved by voice vote was a resolution condemning U.S. congressmen who voted $2.2 billion in military aid for Israel "to wage war against Arab peoples while at the same time appropriating less than $25 million to help six African nations suffering from drought."

Portuguese Attempt Proves Flop

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese government appeared securely in control of the whole country today and tension eased after the failure of an attempted coup by young infantry officers.

Military police were holding between 20 and 30 army officers in the Lisbon area in addition to the 200 young officers and infantrymen who advanced on Lisbon in a motorized column Saturday.

Troops loyal to the authoritarian regime of Premier Marcello Caetano turned the rebels back without firing a shot. They returned to their barracks at Caldas da Rainha, 60 miles north of Lisbon, and surrendered several hours later.

Lisbon remained calm, and no disturbances were reported elsewhere in the country. Thousands of soccer fans from Oporto streamed into Lisbon Sunday for a game between Oporto and Sporting of Lisbon. Because of the game, the government relaxed a state of alert which had confined the military to their barracks, but it was clamped back on after the game.

The Lisbon club won 2-0. The attempted revolt resulted from a movement in the armed forces for a political settlement to end the war against the native rebels in Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea, Portugal's African territories.

The movement was sparked by the recent book "Portugal and the Future," by the deputy chief of staff, Gen. Antonio de Spínola, which sharply criticized the government's African policy.

Wilson Faces Voting Test

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's minority Labor government faced its first voting test in the House of Commons today and was expected to win with the help of abstentions by some opposition members.

Wilson's chances were also helped by a declaration from the Trades Union Congress that it would support the government if it retained the government wage board set up by the last Conservative government to curb wage hikes.

Although the Labor party's campaign platform promised to abolish the wage board with which Prime Minister Edward Heath tried to limit wage increases to seven per cent, the 10-million-member TUC said the government should give priority to repeal of the Industrial Relations Act even if this meant temporary retention of the wage board.

The Industrial Relations Act was the Conservatives' attempt to outlaw wildcat strikes and institute a system of legally binding wage contracts. It has been a resounding failure.

Wilson's first test in the House of Commons was expected on a Conservative motion attacking the absence from the government's program of a statutory system of wage controls. But there was a possibility that the Conservatives would not press their motion to a vote because of the prospect of embarrassing abstentions within their own ranks.

Wilson controls 299 votes in the House of Commons, 18 short of a majority. The Conservatives, with 295, could defeat him only if they got enough support from the other 38 members.

Kidnaped Woman's Return Promised

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Ransom has been paid for the return of Eunice Kronholm and her abductors have promised to let her banker husband know her whereabouts today, a family spokesman said.

Mrs. Kronholm, whose husband, Gunnar, is president of Drivers State Bank in South St. Paul, disappeared from her Lino Lakes home Friday morning.

Her brother-in-law, the Rev. Bruce Fleming, read a brief statement in a telephone call to The Associated Press early today.

"The ransom money has been delivered to the abductors as instructed," the Rev. Mr. Fleming said. "They have promised to let Gunnar Kronholm know this morning where his wife is being held. We are now prayerfully and with hope awaiting for this information."

The Rev. Mr. Fleming, a Baptist minister whose wife is Mrs. Kronholm's sister, said he could not reveal any more information.

Earlier, the FBI said Mrs. Kronholm's automobile was found early today at a suburban Minneapolis shopping center.

The FBI said her 1969 Buick Skylark was found parked in a lot at the Southdale Shopping Center in the Minneapolis suburb of Edina.

The FBI said the car was found by the Edina Police Department, but no other details were released. Edina police referred questions about the car to the FBI.

Mrs. Kronholm, 46, was last seen by her husband when he left their home Friday morning for work.

Friday afternoon, Kronholm received a telephone call from someone who told him to deliver "all the money you can" to a "station." The caller hung up before Kronholm could clarify the demand.

Kronholm, 60, had asked the FBI not to interfere in the case. At a Saturday news conference on the front steps of his home, he pleaded for some contact from the kidnapers. He said:

"I await their demands and I will do my utmost to meet their expectations whenever and wherever they indicate."

"Her safe return is all I want." The kidnap victim is his second wife. His first wife died of cancer several years ago.

Congress Studies Military Bonuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special bonuses to attract men into the all-volunteer military's critically-short skilled jobs heads the congressional legislative agenda this week.

A bill to grant $85.4 million in special bonuses the first full year was scheduled for a House vote in the afternoon as was a new $140 million economic development program for Indian reservations.

The legislation to authorize federal loans to help Indians develop and manage their own resources originally was introduced by the late John P. Saylor, R-Pa., who died last October.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said the special military bonus bill is aimed at overcoming what he called the all-volunteer force's critical problem of attracting and keeping men in such critical skills as electronics.

The House bill would authorize enlistment bonuses up to $3,000 for specified skills, although the Pentagon plans to start the bonuses at $2,000. Bonuses up to $15,000 would be paid to men re-enlisting for the skilled jobs.

At the same time, the bill would halt the present $2,000 bonus for all men who re-enlist. The Pentagon estimates this change will reduce bonus costs by $44.5 million by 1979.

An amendment requiring admission of qualified women to military academies was tacked onto the GI bonus bill by the Senate. But that was knocked out in the House committee before the bill was sent out for House action.

2 Drown Off Florida

BAYPORT, Fla. (AP) — A Central Florida man and his father from Ohio have been reported lost at sea after a two-day search for a capsized fishing boat.

The Coast Guard identified them as C. R. Denslow, 45, of Brooksville, Fla. and his father, M. W. Denslow, 78, of Ashland, Ohio.

Two survivors, James Heisserer of Brooksville and Charles Blyth of Tampa, clung to the 18-foot boat for nearly 24 hours before rescuers found them Saturday.

"The father went off before it got dark Friday," Blyth said Sunday. "C.R. kept trying to hold Jim and his father on. When his father drifted off, that upset C.R. pretty bad. He slipped off too some time about sunrise."

Blyth said the four had left Bayport Friday morning to go fishing, and went into the water about two hours later. He said the water was not rough, but that the boat hit a wave that sent water over the bow and stern.

Heisserer's nephew, Denny Highben, said his uncle told him there were life jackets aboard but the boat was swamped so quickly nobody could get them on.

The Senate returns from a long weekend Tuesday to take up its version of legislation to set up Congress' own expertise to determine how high the federal budget should be so it can rely less on a president's experts.

The House passed its version of the bill in December.

Both bills would create a congressional office of the budget, staffed by experts. Both also would require Congress to set its own federal budget ceiling each year.

Former Officer Faces Charges In Fatal Shooting

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Former police officer Phillip Morris of Fairview was charged with murder Sunday after a Newport man was shot to death.

Morris' estranged wife was wounded in the incident.

The murder victim was identified as Robert Rollins, 51. The shootings occurred in a camper parked on a central Covington street, police said.

They said Morris surrendered after a phone call to the police and was freed on $10,000 bond. He will appear in court Wednesday.

Cincinnati Officer Faces Inquiry Board

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Patrolman David Waddell, 28, will appear before a board of inquiry March 27 on a charge of misappropriating department gasoline.

Police said the investigation began when a man was seen pumping 15 gallons of gasoline into a private car.

The city has ordered strict enforcement of gasoline use since it discovered it could not account for 600,000 gallons used in 1973.

Subscription price to be increased

Skyrocketing costs of hard-to-get newsprint and other related materials has forced The Herald to increase its subscription prices.

Effective Monday, April 1, the home-delivered subscription rate per week from a newspaper carrier or motor route driver will be 75 cents. Carriers and motor route drivers will share in the increase.

Cause of the newsprint shortage started when the federal government permitted the indiscriminate sale of western lumber to Japan. Wood pulp is used to make paper.

In addition, a number of paper mills have closed due to the fact that they cannot economically meet Environmental Protection Agency standards.

Another factor is that it was impossible to cut northern and southern timber last year due to abnormally wet weather.

The entire situation was compounded when both Canadian paper mills and the Canadian railroads went on strike. The resultant shortages and newly-signed labor contracts at the mills sent paper prices soaring.

FBI Sets Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley is scheduled to testify at a Senate hearing on legislation intended to insulate him and his successors from political pressures.

The hearing today, on a bill by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., is the first by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on FBI oversight since it was named last August to monitor the operations of the investigative agency.

The bill provides for a 10-year term for the FBI director but permits reappointment for one additional 10-year term. Both appointments would be subject to Senate confirmation.

However, the director, like any other presidential appointee, could be dismissed for cause.

Present law sets no limit on how long an FBI director may serve. J. Edgar Hoover held the office from 1924 until his death in May 1972.

Byrd's bill and the establishment of the oversight subcommittee grew out of President Nixon's ill-starred nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to succeed Hoover.

Byrd and some other Judiciary Committee members contended Gray had yielded to White House pressures in the FBI investigation of the Watergate case, and eventually Gray asked Nixon to withdraw his nomination.

Then Kelley, police chief in Kansas City, Mo., for 12 years and a former FBI agent, was nominated as Hoover's successor. He was confirmed by the Senate in June of last year.

Byrd said the confirmation hearings indicated "Congress must take steps to insulate the director of the FBI from possible political pressures — especially from the White House and, conceivably, even from Congress."

He observed that a 10-year term for the director would overlap by at least two years the tenure of any president.

Byrd said this would eliminate many of the pressures that could be brought to bear if a director were to be appointed or reappointed each time a president took office.

Byrd's bill would apply to Kelley's tenure, since it would be retroactive to June 1 of last year. However, before Kelley could serve 10 years he will have reached the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Hoover was able to serve past 70 years because of an executive order waiving the retirement requirement.

St. Patrick's Day At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon wore a traditional shamrock in his lapel as he played host to 350 guests at a St. Patrick's Day worship service in the East Room of the White House.

The shamrock was pinned on by Gerald Malloy, the ambassador from Ireland, who also presented the President with a crystal vase of shamrocks flown from Ireland.

The President's daughter and son-in-law, Julie and David Eisenhower, were at the service. But Mrs. Nixon, who celebrated her 62nd birthday Saturday, was unable to attend because she has the flu.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale of Marble Collegiate Church in New York delivered the sermon, asking people and nations to "start loving one another."

King Hussein Now In Florida

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan arrived here from Washington in a private jet for a visit with James Kimberly, heir to the Kimberly-Clark fortune.

Hussein was whisked away from the airport Sunday without making a statement and was escorted by motorcade to Kimberly's home in the exclusive resort of Palm Beach. Kimberly, honorary consul of Jordan in Palm Beach, took Hussein fishing during a visit last year.

Mainly About People

Robert Gaines, formerly of Circleville, is a patient in room 310, Grady Memorial Hospital, Delaware, Ohio.

Mrs. Harold Acord, South Bloomfield, has been dismissed from Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Robert W. Jones, Route 4, who was injured in an accident, is a patient in Mt. Carmel Medical Center, Columbus.

Toni Hill, 357 E. Mound St., has been dismissed from Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Rap Session Scheduled

The bi-monthly youth Rap Session will be held 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at the home of Nita Archer, 1015 Sunshine Street.

The church-related session is open to all Circleville and Pickaway County junior high and high school students.

Two Fires Reported Sunday

Two fires within an hour of each other were reported to the Circleville Fire Department Sunday afternoon.

Dust and grease built up under the burners of a heating stove in the living room caused a fire in the Kelly Neal residence at 422 S. Washington St. at 12:35 p.m. Estimated loss on the contents was $25. There was no loss reported on the apartment owned by W. E. Clark.

A neighbor to the Charles Smith residence at 369 Weldon Ave. noticed smoke coming from the house and reported it to the department. Firemen dispatched to the scene at 1:25 p.m. finding no one at home and the living room sofa on fire.

The sofa was taken out of the house and the fire extinguished on the lawn causing no water damage to the home itself. The estimated loss of the sofa was $135. Firemen believe the fire was caused by a cigarette having been dropped on the sofa before the occupants left.

WHS Band To Present Concert

The Westfall High School Band will present a Mid Winter Concert 7:30 p.m., Thursday, at the high school auditorium.

The concert band will perform musical selections that have been prepared for the Saturday band contest at Hastings Junior High School, Upper Arlington, along with other light numbers.

Compositions from groups such as Chicago and Chase will be performed by the Lab Band.

Jim Kibby, Westfall Band Director invites everyone to attend.

KROGER GROUND MEATS!

You can depend on outstanding quality. What's our secret! ... It's simple ...

1. When the label reads "GROUND BEEF ROUND" you can be sure it's ground only from the round. Our aim with fresh ground round ... 14% fat for flavor.
2. When the label reads "GROUND BEEF CHUCK," you can be sure it's ground only from the chuck. Our aim with fresh ground chuck ... 18% fat for flavor.
3. Our "Extra Lean Ground Beef" is all beef from several different cuts, freshly ground. Our aim ... 22% fat for flavor.
4. Our "Ground Beef," too, is made only from beef ... nothing added. With ground beef, our aim is ... 28% fat for flavor.

We feel it is our duty to keep our customers informed on the quality and labeling of our ground meat products including the control of fat content in our modern refrigerated meat plant under the supervision of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Not all stores can make these claims so don't be fooled. Know exactly what you're buying. Shop Kroger and be sure.
Kroger ... the quality meat people.

to help consumers eat better

Something new is being added to food labels. It's called nutritional labeling, and it is designed to help shoppers make sure their families are eating the right foods.

The amount of protein and the seven essential vitamins and minerals contained in a serving of the food product will be shown right on the label as a percentage of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance for adults. Calories also will be listed, along with grams of protein, carbohydrates and fat. Using this information, the homemaker can plan menus which will insure that her family gets 100% of the protein and the essential vitamins and minerals they need each day.

Some of the new labels are starting to appear on store shelves already. Kroger shoppers, for example, will find the new labeling on Kroger breakfast cereals, white bread and buns, low calorie salad dressings, and pork and beans. In the months to come, more and more products will bear this important information on their labels. Kroger is going beyond the U.S. Food and Drug Administration requirements and plans to nutritionally-label many of its own brand products... which are equal in nutritional quality to leading brands yet cost less.

Read the labels. Let nutritional labeling help you shop more wisely.

Arab Ministers Meeting Again On Oil Embargo

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The world's major oil producers scheduled another meeting here to decide whether to lift the oil embargo against the United States.

The session was set for 11 a.m. EDT, and Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani told reporters the embargo would be lifted in that session. Algeria's official newspaper El Moudjahid also said the embargo would be lifted.

But in Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported the decision to lift the oil embargo may be delayed for a week to refer it to an Arab foreign ministers meeting on March 25. It said Libya still rejected the lifting of the ban.

The ministers from nine Arab countries met for three and a half hours Sunday but failed to agree. Syria and Libya were reported blocking a unanimous decision to lift the blockade. However, one unconfirmed report said Syria's objections had been ironed out, and Libya would abstain from the decision by the rest.

Several of the ministers met until late Sunday night in an attempt to draft a consensus document. Others contacted their governments for further instructions, sources said.

Earlier Sunday, 13 of the world's major oil-producing nations, including seven of the Arab states, concluded a weekend meeting here with the announcement they would maintain their posted prices on crude oil until July 1. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said its decision not to raise the artificial price on which their share of the oil revenue is calculated was a good will gesture toward the leading oil consumers — Western Europe, Japan and the United States. But a spokesman warned that unless the industrial nations controlled their "galloping inflation" and the prices they charge the oil nations for their manufactured products, they would raise the oil price again.

The OPEC countries produce 80 per cent of world oil exports.

The Arab oil meeting was a followup to one in Tripoli, Libya, last Wednesday. It produced reports that the ministers had decided to end the boycott they agreed on last October in an attempt to pressure the United States to modify its pro-Israeli policy. A formal decision and announcement was predicted for the Vienna meeting.

Instead, it quickly became apparent that the ministers had arrived in Vienna with their differences unresolved. Algeria, one of the three hard-liners, was reported to have been won over by Egypt and Saudi Arabia, the leaders of the anti-embargo bloc, but Syria and Libya held out, insiders said.

Libya has adamantly opposed lifting the embargo because it claims Washington's policy remains directed against the Arabs. Sources said Libya was provoked further by President Nixon's threat in his speech Friday to "slow down our very real and earnest efforts to get a disengagement on the Syrian front and a permanent peace settlement" unless the embargo is lifted.

Lottery Eyed By Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly a year after voters lifted a ban against a state lottery, the legislature still is trying to put loose ends together to get it on the road.

The pending matters include a question of whether tickets will be sold in liquor spots, and if, in fact, the lawmakers will leave intact the Lottery Commission's decision to put the state headquarters in Cleveland.

Although other preliminary work is going ahead, the legislature is ex-

21 Families Face Ouster For Mine

ECKMAN, W.Va. (AP) — Notices have been sent to 21 families living in a hollow near this McDowell County community to move their homes or belongings by May 4 to make way for a new strip mine.

Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va., said Sunday Pocahontas Fuel Division of Consolidation Coal sent the 60-day evacuation notices last week to residents of Eureka Hollow. The land is owned by the coal firm, despite the fact that many of the occupants own their homes.

A spokesman for Consol, Public Relations Vice President Haze Cochran said its not fair to paint the company as "the big, dirty landlord." He promised the company would "work something out."

Hechler said he had sent a strong telegram of protest to the coal company.

"The energy crisis is no excuse to violate the rights of the people," he said.

Cochran, contacted in Pittsburgh, said it was the first he had heard of the situation. "I think the thing to do here is for all the parties concerned to sit down and see what could be worked out."

He added, "Ken Hechler is a publicity hound. All too often, Ken tries these cases in the press. If the congressman has any ideas about how we can help these people he could come to us and tell us."

Mrs. Ruby Dalton, secretary-treasurer of the land company that leases the property said the residents had been leasing the home sites for $20 a year and some bought the homes at very modest prices.

Mills Sees Nixon Out Of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, predicts President Nixon will be out of office by November.

Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee and vice chairman of the committee looking into the President's taxes, was asked in a televised interview Sunday whether he expects Nixon to be in office by the November election.

"I do not," Mills responded.

"By resignation, by impeachment?"

Mills replied: "One or the other, I do not know which at this time."

Appearing on the CBS program "Face the Nation," Mills said he believes Nixon will come under increasing pressure from within the Republican party because of his tax problems and fears of lost votes in November.

the newsmen interviewing him:

"I would think that probably you and I both may well be surprised when the vote occurs on the articles of impeachment over the number on the Republican side who may vote for those articles of impeachment."

Mills added: "If he stays in office as President, members of his own party know that they'll lose seats in the House."

Commenting on Nixon's income tax problems, primarily involving a deduction for donation of his vice presidential papers to the National Archives, Mills said:

"There is a possibility if (the investigation) proves that the deduction of the papers given to the archives was improper that there would be fraud on the part of someone."

Panel Gets Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today ordered the secret Watergate jury report delivered to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry.

Sirica said the report "draws no accusatory conclusions ... it renders no moral or social judgments."

"The report is a simple and straightforward compilation of information gathered by the grand jury and no more," he said.

Sirica delayed implementation of his order for two days to permit filing of appeals.

Sirica said in his opinion that the grand jury "strongly recommends" that its report and a satchel filled with evidence should go to the impeachment committee because:

"Having carefully examined the contents of the grand jury report, the court is satisfied that there can be no question regarding their materiality to the House Judiciary Committee's investigation."

"The person on whom the report focuses, the President of the United States, has not objected to its release to the committee," Sirica said.

"Other persons are involved only indirectly," he added.

"... And although it has not been emphasized in this opinion, it should not be forgotten that we deal in a matter of the most critical moment to the nation, an impeachment investigation involving the President of the United States," Sirica said.

"It would be difficult," he said, "to conceive of a more compelling need than that of this country for an unswervingly fair inquiry based on all the pertinent information."

The judge said it would be up to the House Judiciary Committee "to determine the significance" of the evidence and that the court offered no opinion as to relevance.

Sirica also said the Judiciary committee rather than the court should consider a request from White House counsel for permission to review the grand jury evidence.

The grand jury gave the report to Sirica on March 1, the same day it indicted seven former Nixon administration and Nixon campaign aides on charges of conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Sirica said last week he has spent a lot of time working on the decision.

"It's been late night work, early morning hours, things like that," he said in a brief telephone interview.

That decision is expected to be his last major act before stepping down as chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Washington. Sirica, who must relinquish the post Tuesday when he turns 70, will be succeeded by Judge George L. Hart Jr.

Sirica plans to remain an active judge after stepping down as chief judge. He already has assigned himself the Watergate cover-up trial.

The grand jury gave Sirica the report March 1 along with an indictment charging seven former Nixon administration and campaign aides with conspiracy to block the probe of the Watergate break-in.

The report and a satchel filled with evidence were said by sources to concern President Nixon's role in Watergate. The grand jury reportedly asked Sirica to give it to the House impeachment inquiry.

Meanwhile, Sunday, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said he expects President Nixon to be out of office by November. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and vice chairman of the joint committee looking into President Nixon's taxes, said on the CBS program "Face the Nation" that Nixon would be impeached or would resign by then.

And presidential adviser Bryce Harlow said that the White House, by refusing to turn over its files, was trying to help the committee "decide specifically what they are trying to do." He said White House action was designed to help the committee focus its inquiry.

In another Watergate-related development, Newsweek magazine has quoted Egyptian President Anwar Sadat as saying that the impeachment of President Nixon would be a "real tragedy" for the Middle East and the world. Newsweek published an interview with Sadat in this week's issue.

Sadat was quoted as saying that Nixon has "revolutionized the thrust of U.S. policy in our area and before that in the rest of the world."

Newsweek also published a poll by pollster George Gallup's organization that indicated a majority of Americans want Nixon tried in the Senate on Watergate-related charges.

And, in Los Angeles, Saturday, President Nixon's tax lawyer said the original deed by which Nixon's vice presidential papers were turned over to the National Archives was destroyed when a replacement deed was drafted and signed April 10, 1970. Lawyer Frank DeMarco said the original deed was signed in California April 21, 1969.

Judge Long-Time GOP Wheelhorse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before he became a federal judge in 1958, George L. Hart Jr. spent more than 20 years as a Republican party worker.

In those days, long before Watergate, Hart often raised as much as $500,000 a year as GOP chairman for the District of Columbia. "Every contributor of $100 or more was listed by name and address ... every expenditure of as little as 10 cents was listed individually," Hart recalled in an interview.

"That was the way I thought campaign funds were handled ... I must have been a babe in the woods," he added.

Recently, Hart has begun learning about Watergate-style Republican politics in his position as a U.S. District judge.

And, starting Tuesday, Hart takes over as chief judge of the District Court, succeeding the man given much of the credit for exposing Watergate,

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica. The change will be marked today by a luncheon ceremony at a meeting of the judicial conference.

Sirica turns 70 Tuesday and must step down as chief judge, though he plans to remain on the bench and already has assigned himself the Watergate cover-up trial.

As the new chief judge, Hart will receive any future Watergate indictments and assign the cases.

Because of the administrative duties of his new post, Hart said it isn't likely "I would assign one of the long and protracted Watergate cases to myself while I am chief judge."

In September 1972, Sirica assigned himself the case of seven men indicted on charges of burglary, conspiracy and wiretapping in connection with the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate office building.

At the trial in January 1973, five of the defendants pleaded guilty. The other two, G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr., were convicted by a jury.

Throughout, Sirica made it clear he didn't believe all the facts were being brought out. Finally, in March, McCord wrote the judge a letter in which he said the defendants had been pressured into pleading guilty and also that higherups were involved in the break-in.

Nearly a year later, a grand jury indicted seven former administration and campaign aides on charges of trying to block the Watergate investigation. A good deal of the credit was given to Sirica's dogged determination to get at the truth.

How does Hart feel, taking over as chief judge from the man whom Watergate made into a folk hero?

"It's just another job," he said, his voice still carrying a trace of the Tidewater Virginia drawl of his native Roanoke. "I frankly don't consider from a judge's point of view that a Watergate is different than any other case ... Some cases are more difficult than others, some are longer than others."

From the bench, Hart strives to bring cases to trial swiftly. He can become testy with lawyers who ask for what he considers too much time for filing pre-trial motions.

ANNEXATION SOUGHT—A petition for annexation to Circleville of 1,834 acres east of the city was filed today with Pickaway County Commissioners. The petition was signed by 50 of the approximately 90 resident freeholders of the territory involved.

A tentative date for a public hearing will be 10 a.m. May 29 concerning the annexation. The map shows the boundaries of the territory. Knollwood Village is not included in the annexation.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed away from its recent highs today, pressured by continuing uncertainties in the Arab oil outlook.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 6.10 at 881.73, and losers overwhelmed gainers by more than 2 to 1 in generally sluggish activity on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said some investors were troubled by the news that Arab oil ministers had put off a decision on the future of the embargo on shipments to the United States, while agreeing to leave prices at their present high levels for three more months. The ministers were meeting again today to consider the embargo issue further.

Oil, auto, and other travel-related issues were generally weak. Exxon was down 5/8 at 87 1/2, General Motors slid 3/4 to 53, Howard Johnson slipped 3/8 to 12 1/2, and Ramada Inns was off 1/8 to 8 1/4.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks was off .28 at 52.90.

Unearned Pay Charges Investigated

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An investigation will be made into charges detailed in a 12-page report which states psychiatrists, psychologists and other professionals working for the Cincinnati Health Department were paid for hours they claimed, but did not work.

City Solicitor Thomas A. Luebbers said the matter will be referred to criminal justice authorities if the investigation proves the charges are substantiated.

The study was submitted to City Council members two weeks ago.

The document said "There was evidence that certain staff and consultants to the clinic were engaging in questionable fiscal and administrative practices."

"It was common practice for the psychiatric and psychological consultants to record on their time slips two hours work for every one hour of actual work they completed for the clinic," the study said.

The report said "exorbitant amounts of overtime pay" were being spent at the clinic for two staff positions, "the funds for which were taken from civil service positions that had never been filled."

Pay requests were entered for days the clinic was closed, the study said.

All the practices were halted last year, the report said, when Dr. David H. Sanders, assistant commissioner for mental health, took over control of the clinic from the psychiatrists who had been running it on a part-time basis.

Sanders, Dr. William R. Elsea, health commissioner, and Dr. Nicholas C. Anthony, director of the department's Psychiatric Clinic, signed the study.

Watergate Ranking 3rd As Issue?

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Republican leaders feed inflation and the energy crisis top Watergate as the primary issues in this fall's congressional election campaigns, according to the Gallup Poll.

In a nationwide survey of Republican county chairmen, 71 per cent named inflation as the leading issue and 65 per cent listed the energy crisis. Watergate was named by 32 per cent.

The Gallup organization said 2,384 chairmen returned questionnaires in the mail poll, a response rate of more than 65 per cent.

The chairmen played down the effect of Watergate on their party's congressional candidates. Forty per cent said the issue would affect their candidates "somewhat," 31 per cent said "hardly at all," 17 per cent said "not at all," 11 per cent said "a great deal," and 1 per cent gave no opinion.

County chairmen in the East expected the most fallout from Watergate. Seventeen per cent said they expected it would hurt a great deal. That response came from 8 per cent in the South, 11 per cent in the Midwest and 15 per cent in the far West.

Some 15 per cent of the chairmen said accusing the Democrats of using Watergate for partisan purposes would be one of the strongest arguments the GOP could use in the coming campaign.

This was the fourth most frequent response, with other answers being charges of an ineffective Democratic Congress, claims that the Republicans have maintained peace, and claims of good management in international affairs in general, and in international trade.

Presley Concert Held In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Glittering in a white jumpsuit, Elvis Presley drew screams and cheers with a homecoming concert in Memphis, where he started his career 20 years ago.

Presley, 39, gave four concerts over the weekend and will give another Wednesday. A Red Cross volunteer at the opening concert Saturday, attended by 12,000, said lots of aspirin and earplugs were given out, "but nobody needed the oxygen tank."

The singer did such numbers as "C.C. Rider" and "I Can't Help Falling in Love with You."

Playwright Sets UM Appearance

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Playwright Arthur Miller will take to the stage next month at the University of Michigan.

Miller will narrate "From the Creation," a theater piece based on his play, "The Creation of the World and Other Business." The show, with music by Stanley Silverman, will include a cast of six singers.

The production will be a substitute for a new work, "The American Clock," which Miller has been writing in residence at the university. Officials said the new play will be produced at the school later.

Deputies Investigated Four Weekend Accidents

Five persons received injuries in four weekend accidents, with two persons receiving citations, investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies.

Sixty-three-year-old Dale B. Hopkins, Orient, was cited for driving while intoxicated, by Deputy Lawrence Holt, when he was involved in a single-car accident 4:57 p.m. Saturday.

Hopkins was driving north on State Route 62, when he went off the right side of the road striking a guard rail. According to the investigation, Hopkins made no attempt to report the accident.

Jon J. Reebel, 16, Lockbourne, was referred to his doctor for a laceration to his left hand and fingers, when he was involved in a single-car accident 11:50 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Deputy Robert Hoover, the left front wheel came off the vehicle causing Reebel to lose control.

Coins Taken In Grand Theft

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown investigated the theft of $949.50 worth of coins from the Edward D. Hudson residence, Commercial Point.

According to Hudson, the money was taken from the bedroom sometime between 7:30 a.m. March 14 and 8 p.m. March 16.

Cooke Metzger, Route 2, Williamsport, operator of the Howard Smith farm, Chillicothe-Williamsport Road, reported to Sheriff's Authorities, thieves took livestock food from the barn.

Using a shovel, the thieves took the food sometime between noon Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy James Deal, estimated value of the food was $50.

Two Glass Doors Broken In City

An inside glass door at Prairie Lanes, N. Court St., was broken as the result of an altercation 10:50 p.m. Saturday.

Anne Coffland, manager of the Lanes, notified city police that two men had begun fighting while playing pool and one of them walked through the glass door.

Someone shot a hole in the glass storm door at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert A. Hunt, 606 E. Main St., approximately 9 a.m. Sunday. Police believe the vandalism was caused by a BB gun.

The most magnetic material at ordinary temperatures is cobalt-copper-samarium.

Dear Friends,

The expression, "Every laborer is worthy of his hire" has withstood the challenge of time. Adequate compensation for services rendered is essential to all progress or to the continuation of any business or professional firm.

However, the public has a right to expect, that through the use of sound business and pricing principles, they too will receive proper values. The best interests of funeral service are dependent on what is in the best public interest.

Girls Track Team Sparks Interest

By VICKI McCONNAHA

On March 4, 80 to 90 girls signed up for the 1974 track team. With this number of girls interested, each event should have good competition. There will be the same events open as before except for the basketball throw. This year the team has a good chance of having a winning record since the eighth grade and high school teams of last year had a fine season. This is the second year for the track team to be coached under Mrs. Rinehart, and she will still be looking for an undefeated season.

These are some comments from the old members: Pam Hannah (shot put, discus, softball throw) "We are going to win the Metro League this year. Namely, because we were undefeated last year. You might add with Mrs. Rinehart as coach, how could we lose? Last year's record was the greatest in the school. It was the first trophy for the girl's track team." Kim Martin (shot put, 880 run) "The team will do good this year."

Nancy Waidelich "The attention getters need to be eliminated. From the wide selection of girls, we should win the Metro." Sheri Barr (shot put, discus, sprints) "I think more people should go out for the team. It doesn't hurt to get exercise." Vicky Smith (sprints, 440 relay) "I think we will have good ratings. Since there are so many trying out, it should be better." Julie Pabst (shot put, discus, relay) "I think we will have another undefeated season. Pam Younkin (440 run, 880 relay) "I think we will win all of our meets. We will be undefeated just like last year."

Two new members have this to say: Luann McConaha (broad jump) "I think the team will do good since we have freshman joining that were good from last year." Eileen Maynard (sprints, hurdles) "This is my first time to join, but I think the team will do pretty good."

more size than we have ever had. We have a lot of good juniors and some sophomores coming up that will make us a contender for the league," was Coach Hoover's speculation.

He continued, "I was real pleased with our 16-2 regular season play. We lost by a total of four points in the two season games we lost. We won the Metro League. We defended our sectional title for the second year in a row. I was well pleased with this season. They really played well throughout the season."

"First of all, I feel that in order to have a good team the players need mental attitude. That is probably the key factor. I feel very fortunate that I have very smart players, and they did things well."

"Determination and desire are key points and the ability to take constructive criticism. Pontius, Anderson, Logsdon, and Brinker worked hard to help themselves."

"A lot of the boys could come off the bench in a tight ball game and do a real good job. Our attitude, ability to think, and ability to play good basketball are good points. I feel lack of height was probably the only weakness we had."

"The school spirit this year, more so than in the past, has been tremendous. Probably the most exciting thing that can happen to a coach is to have the students and community follow a team like we had. We had one of the biggest followings of any teams around. It gave them a little more incentive to win these games. I can remember a couple of the boys saying that when they were introduced at a ball game and they heard all the cheers and screams from the crowd, chills ran up their spines." "The cheerleaders were an exceptional group this year. They were very mature girls."

"It sure has been a pleasure for me to coach these boys and work with them. I personally feel that these are the finest group of senior boys in the state of Ohio."

The Blue and Gold Staff and students and faculty at Teays Valley High School would like to congratulate Coach Hoover and the team on the fine job they have done. We would like to

Sociology Class Studies Crime

By JANET STRUCKMAN

Mrs. Beaver's sociology class has been conducting a study of crime and juvenile delinquency. During the course, oral reports, discussions, book reports and five resource guest speakers have been available to the students on the subject.

Deputy Bill Dountz of the Pickaway County Sheriffs Department brought to us the Adult Parole Officer of the Columbus Authority, Ron Shembron, who in turn presented Carol Galik, an ex-drug addict.

Carol Galik related her life history including the many crimes committed to support her $70 a day habit, and her experiences of three years in the Marysville Reformatory.

Highway Patrolman, Charles Cubbison of the Circleville Post, told us of crime on the highway and showed us an informative film on drinking and driving.

The Superintendent of Fairfield School for Boys, Ralph Starkey, gave us insight into the daily life and causes of a juvenile delinquent in his school.

A visit to Pickaway County Court will complete our unit of study.

TV Reserves Break Even; 9-9 Record

By RON CATRON
and MARK WILSON

At the end of the basketball season, TV's reserve basketball team broke even with a 9-9 record. The reserve team played their games just before the varsity team. Starting the games for the reserve team were: Jeff Cauer at center, Dave Shiff and Brad Sherman at forwards and guards were Rusty Rathburn and Dave Barr. Coaching the team was Bill Lewis.

Teams members felt that the team was hampered this year by the fact that they didn't have enough players to have good practice sessions.

When asked about the competition this year Rusty Rathburn replied, "I felt that the competition was a whole lot tougher this year than last year."

Mark Messick, who played the sixth man on the team, felt that the toughest team they played in the league this year was Grandview. "They had plenty of height combined with good shooting ability." He also felt that the reserve team got support from the community this year.

Dave Barr felt his most exciting experience of the year was in the West Jefferson game where he threw in the winning free throw in overtime. Dave's comment on the season was, "We played good ball till the last four games of the season where we had a big let down."

Jeff Cauer's most exciting experience was when he put in the winning basket in the last seconds of the Grandview game that was played at home.

When asked about next year, Dave Barr said, "I feel that we will have the best team in the county next year."

16,475 Recipients Off Welfare Rolls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Welfare Director Charles Bates said today 16,475 recipients were removed from welfare rolls during the first six months of the 1974 fiscal year.

He attributed the decline to the state's work registration program under which jobs were located for recipients, and those who refused to accept employment or training opportunities were removed from the rolls.

TV And CHS Councils Exchange New Ideas

By CHRIS HANSEN

The Teays Valley High School Student Council met March 6, for their regular meeting.

At this meeting, members discussed the recent meeting at Circleville at which many of the council members were present. The council passed a motion to send representatives back and forth between the two schools in order to obtain new ideas and objectives. This motion will become effective once it is approved by the Circleville Student Council and by the principals of both schools.

The suggestion box and the juke box have both been installed and have had fantastic results. The suggestion box, a black mail box covered with multi-colored flowers, now stands in the main lobby of the high school. Several of the suggestions were read at this meeting, and a special committee was set up to deal with suggestions made in the future.

The juke box, which was installed about three weeks ago, is working quite successfully and as of yet has presented no noise problems. The council estimated an approximate profit of $12 per week from this project.

Jim Logsdon reported on the Logan Elm petition which was brought to Teays Valley wishing the basketball

Nixon Deed Destroyed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — An original deed donating President Nixon's vice presidential papers to the National Archives was thrown away, Nixon's tax lawyer says.

Attorney Frank DeMarco said Friday the 1969 deed was destroyed when a replacement deed was drafted and signed on April 10, 1970. He described it as routine legal practice.

The deed is considered by some Washington sources as the key document in President Nixon's biggest single tax problem — his controversial deduction involving the vice-presidential papers, which were valued for tax purposes at $576,000.

"It doesn't exist," DeMarco said in a telephone interview. "That was the whole purpose of retyping and re-signing the deed."

DeMarco first spoke publicly about an original deed March 7. But a Washington source said Friday that the White House had been unable to locate the deed, which DeMarco says was signed in California on April 21, 1969.

California Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. has said the new deed was fraudulently backdated to April 1969 in an apparent effort to qualify the President for a full $576,000 income tax deduction for the papers.

Water safety certificates were issued to 288 persons in the local Red Cross swimming classes. The program included classes at Circleville, Ashville, Gold Cliff, Clark's Lake and Deercreek Reservoir.

A Page Of Opinion

A Tradition Shattered

Probably one of the most famous taverns in America is one most citizens have never seen. But they heard it idolized for generations through the "Whiffenpoof Song." After 110 years as a male bastion of serendipity and suds, Mory's, the Yale campus pub, has had its license yanked by the Connecticut Supreme Court.

Club rules were mentioned, but the real issue seems to have been Mory's all-male tradition. The state liquor commission charged the club with discrimination against women as well in a 1972 decision.

Of course Mory's discriminated against women. The whole point of its existence for more than a century was a convivial fellowship for males only. Even the song which made it famous has a few words for the current squabble: "Baa, baa, baaaaa."

Drugs And Despair

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — In light of the current events in Washington many young Americans often feel that all is lost, that they are powerless. But there is a group of young people based in New York but serving other states who are committed to improving this nation every day of their lives. They work long, but exciting hours in the atmosphere of Odyssey House, Inc.

The founder of this program is Judianne Densen-Gerber, an aggressive, dedicated lawyer-psychiatrist, wife and mother of four. She began Odyssey in 1966 in response to a challenge from 17 addicts who wanted to live a drug-free life.

Since then, the $3.82 seed money and a seven-room tenement have grown into a multi-million-dollar private, not-for-profit charitable agency operating in half a dozen states that has successfully freed 1,156 addicts from drug dependence.

The treatment program is lengthy and highly demanding, based upon therapeutic community methods. But Odyssey takes a unique and significant twist by involving the talents of psychiatrists, psychologists, physicians, lawyers, accountants and the graduated ex-addicts in a total team-approach to solving social and health problems.

Their philosophy is hard-line and non-nonsense. The addict is viewed as a despicable, uncooperative, selfish and frequently dangerous (where criminality is involved) individual who must either be treated or locked up; and therefore, he is given no chance to opt for the easy way.

Odyssey is adamantly against the use of methadone except in rare special medical cases. Methadone maintenance is regarded as neither a cure nor a viable treatment method for drug addiction. "Methadone as a cure for addiction," says Dr. Densen-Gerber, "is a lie and we as adults, physicians and responsible citizens, will never regain our credibility until we stop the lie."

However, removing this one choice is not a solution to this national health problem. All addicts are — by definition — criminals: they flout the law with each marijuana cigarette, each illicit dose of amphetamines, and each bag of heroin.

"Our best place," continues Dr. Densen-Gerber, "is a national civil commitment program in which the addict-criminal is given the choice of prison or treatment. Nothing else will do, for now the addict has so many choices to manipulate to his advantage that the rest of society is always three steps behind. We must grow up and insist that addiction be stopped because addiction spreads and is a contagious disease. The heroin powder is the germ and the addict the vector."

"Research has shown that each addict turns on 10 to 12 non-addicts each year. The child in the middle spreads his disease to the child to the right or the one to the left or both. We have to stop the spread."

To encourage these attitudes on a national level, Odyssey house has opened facilities in New Jersey, New Hampshire, Utah, Michigan and Louisiana — as well as New York — with a total agency capacity of 500 residential beds. But this is hardly sufficient to meet America's needs and Odyssey's staff is the first to agree.

James Murphy, the program's director and one of the original 17 patients, stated, "We will be more effective when there are Odyssey facilities in each of the 50 states, but that's not our only goal. For instance, in 1969, when we were the first to recognize the need for adolescent treatment programs, we undertook to modify the adult program for a younger population and then we taught others how to do the same. We cannot honestly be expected to administer all these programs. We would rather have the time to explore new problems and to design programs which provide the needed answers. We are a think-tank in health problems for the alienated young."

The Odyssey think-tank has operated on numerous occasions. After meeting the adolescent drug addiction epidemic, Odyssey turned its attention to the military addict. That was in 1971, when many of our troops in Vietnam were using the pure, East Asian heroin to face anxiety of combat. Odyssey developed an international treatment referral system for the Department of Defense. It was presented to then Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, and the special action office on drug abuse was the result of Odyssey's persistent pressure, as was Odyssey's consultant contract with the First Army.

More recently, Odyssey has designed special programs for the schizophrenic addict, for addicted pregnant women or single parents with infants, and for the highly intelligent addict. On a national scale, Odyssey designed a multi-level communication system to deal with the failure of the Executive Branch to meaningfully communicate with the grassroots and vice versa.

Most recently, Odyssey has designed (1) a pilot project to study the effectiveness of therapeutic community concepts in a prison setting, (2) an ideal multimodal prevention and treatment system for cities of approximately 250,000 people and (3) a ghetto slum rehabilitation project.

When asked to comment on Odyssey House, Frederick Cohen, Dr. Densen-Gerber's assistant and a graduate of the program, replied, "Challenge. I spent six years in college, bored and depressed. In my senior year I was turned on to pills and then was arrested nine months later. With a possible 18-30 years in prison hanging over my head, I had no alternative. Fortunately, I came to Odyssey. I was confronted with the reality that anyone whose I.Q. is 177 should not spend his

Odyssey challenges everyone. Its senior residents are required to pay for their prior treatment by working without compensation as staff members for six months after graduation in a variety of projects, many of which are vocational rehabilitation models. The program's present challenge is to raise a development fund of $25,000,000.

With this fund, Odyssey can continue its program of developing creative solutions to social problems on a larger scale, as well as securing the necessary operating funds without having to depend upon the unpredictability of governmental funding in an era when nimble politicians play down the inner rot in our society.

It is reassuring that groups of people with integrity really do exist. Out in the ghettos, jails and the gutters, hopeless people have appeared at Odyssey's door, to be successfully graduated as productive, drug-free citizens. Many are now in college on full scholarships, taking pre-med or pre-law curricula. Others have remained within the mental health field to continue Odyssey's work.

Information Regulations Tighter Than 1st Publicized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Office has adopted freedom-of-information regulations that are not so strong as those promised more than a month ago by its chief, William E. Simon, to curtail secrecy in his agency.

Nevertheless, the rules close many loopholes that other agencies have used to deny records and documents to reporters and the public, energy officials said.

The regulations are more than a month late. In a Feb. 5 speech to the National Press Club, Simon pledged to send the regulations to the Federal Register within a week. They will go to the Federal Register Monday.

The highlights: —The regulations call for appointment of an information access officer who will handle requests for documents and records under the 1967 Freedom of Information Law. He is the only person in the agency authorized to deny a formal initial request for information, although anyone may grant a request.

—When a request is received from the press or public, the officer has 48 hours to acknowledge it or grant it or deny it. In his speech, Simon said the rules would call for a 24-hour acknowledgement period.

—The agency has 10 days to grant or deny the request, but the time may be extended to 20 days if "circumstances require additional time before a decision on a request can be released."

Simon said Feb. 5: "Within 10 working days, I personally guarantee you will get the information you seek, or have the opportunity to appeal."

—The regulations call for a ruling within 10 days on appeals, except that the deputy administrator may extend the time another 20 days if "novel or difficult questions are involved." The "novel or difficult questions" aren't defined.

Tobacco Acreage Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tobacco farmers plan to boost acreages 10 per cent this year, and the way Americans are puffing the extra output will be needed.

The Agriculture Department says adults 18 years and older smoked 4,155 cigarettes or nearly 208 picks per capita in 1973 and probably will puff even more this year. That is a statistical figure, however, and includes smokers and nonsmokers alike.

Regardless, the 1973 per capita rate was up from 4,043 cigarettes — slightly more than 202 packs — in 1972 and was the most since 1968 when the rate was almost 210 packs of 20 cigarettes each per capita.

The department's Outlook and Situation Board said Friday in a report that "per capita use may increase again" this year. Thus, with larger domestic demand and large exports, officials said total use for the current season will exceed the 1973 tobacco crop.

As a result, the tobacco reserve or old-crop carryover is expected to decline about three per cent by the time farmers begin harvesting their 1974 crops.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am planning a three-week concentrated work holiday in Russia.

We are taking along our two young children. I know there are special diseases in tropical countries. Are there any unusual medical problems that exist in the colder climate of Russia?

Mr. E. S. B., N.J.

Dear Mr. B.:

People like yourself who are planning to stay in any foreign land are wise to inquire about special precautions that safeguard health.

Your local Board of Health receives daily bulletins from the Contagious Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga. These bulletins report to the nation any unusual outbreak of disease and give protective precautions against them.

This, of course, applies to visiting any foreign country.

If special inoculations are necessary they will suggest it. Routine immunization against cholera, typhoid and yellow fever are not always necessary, but are suggested if there happens to be any current outbreak.

There has been much discussion about the need for smallpox vaccination. Formerly, this was necessary in order to return to the United States. Even though America has abandoned this ruling, it must be remembered that certain foreign countries still demand evidence of vaccination before admitting visitors.

What is the cause of "weeping eczema" of the ear canal? Sometimes my ear is unbearably and painfully encrusted.

Miss G. B., Ind.

Dear Miss B.:

"Weeping eczema" is a dermatitis, or inflammation of the skin, that lines the outer ear canal.

Almost always it is caused by some allergy to hair lacquer, hair dyes, eye makeup, sprays, and interestingly, nail polish.

It is called "weeping" because it oozes a fine serum. If unattended, the skin can become infected, and a double problem of infection and allergy exists.

It is imperative to find out what the offending substance is if recurrent attacks are to be avoided.

Treatment with antibiotics and cortisone and wet dressings is effective in control of the pain, the itching and the swelling that accompany this condition.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The most powerful economic mind in the Nixon administration, outgoing Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz cannot be portrayed in a snapshot. From different angles he seemed to be many men.

This in part may be attributed to the countless facts of Shultz' job as assistant to the President for economic policy, which required him to coordinate seemingly disparate policies into a philosophy of government.

To some degree he succeeded. His integrity, professionalism and knowledge of economic matters brought him respect and trust from counterparts abroad. But domestically, government policy confused many people.

Shultz and his associates inherited problems that previous administrations had failed to tackle head on. They did so. The long-delayed devaluation, for instance, was accomplished during Shultz' years.

As a result, the still fragile but more realistic world monetary system is now looking forward, however shakily, instead of toward a devastating collapse that was feared by some of the world's leaders.

Domestically, however, the administration seemed to stumble from one phase of price controls to another, always expressing distaste for the role it was playing and, critics maintain, playing the role only half-heartedly.

An orderly thinker, Shultz during the past few years has had to deal with an economic situation termed a mess by a good many business and academic economists.

Inflation intensified rather than receded. The administration ran up roughly $60 billion in budget deficits. Unemployment never got down to the original goal of 4 per cent, and it is rising again.

Much of the poor domestic image was self-created by the continual declaration of goals that couldn't be met and by the incessant, futile promise by other administration spokesman that the worst was over. Clearly, it wasn't.

To many critics, Shultz was an enigma. Widely known as a proponent of free markets, he was consistent in advocating lower trade barriers and in stating his belief that the central government didn't belong in the market place.

During his five years, however, the federal government moved into the market place in almost inextricable ways. Never since World War II—or in peacetime since the great depression of the 1930s—have government been so involved.

A school of thought exists that Shultz and his associates had little opportunity to put into action the theories in which they believed. Practical demands, it is said, simply overwhelmed philosophical considerations.

Inflation, for example, is far less a domestic matter than it was 10 or 20 years ago. The world's trading nations are more intricately related, and internal imbalances spread like contagion.

The entire industrialized world is fighting inflation, partly because every one of them is committed to running its economy intensively in order to satisfy the rising aspirations of millions of people seeking a better life.

Opposed to wage-price controls as a method of checking inflation, Shultz and his associates nevertheless submitted to public pressure. The alternative was an induced recession, which ironically may have come anyway.

Atop all this came a unique economic dimension: shortages. The world had never before had to deal with massive shortfalls of so many major commodities, and no programs were available to deal with the problem smoothly.

The summation of Shultz' years can only be made when a more historical perspective can be achieved years from now.

But one observation with which many observers of various persuasions might agree is that Shultz has been an informed, sturdy executive who was forced to learn that every economic position today is a political one also, and that politics is the art of compromise.

Soviets Planning Farm Expansion

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today disclosed details of a massive 15-year agricultural project to transform 124 million virgin acres into arable crop and grazing lands.

If successful, the new Kremlin program would increase Russia's grain-producing lands by about 30 per cent and provide substantial help in resolving the country's perennial agriculture problems.

Pravda revealed details of the program, first announced Friday by Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev in Alma Ata, the capital of Kazakhstan.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) Is it true that if you are expecting a refund and you file your return in March, you will get your refund sooner?

(A) Yes. Because fewer taxpayers file in March than the peak filing month of April, the IRS is able to process your return and issue your refund quicker at this time. Of course, your return must contain no mistakes that would delay processing.

(Q) Can anyone under 65 ever qualify for the retirement income credit?

(A) Yes. If you are under 65, you may qualify for the retirement income credit if you receive retirement income from a public retirement system, such as those set up for Federal, state, or local government employees, armed forces personnel, public school teachers and policemen. Remember, if you are eligible to claim the retirement income credit, you can have the IRS compute it for you. See your tax form instructions and Schedule R for details.

(Q) I'm divorced and have custody of my child. Can I take advantage of the lower tax rates for "heads of household" or must I file as a single taxpayer?

(A) Generally, you can file as a head of household if you meet the following requirements:

(1) You must be unmarried on the last day of your tax year.

(2) You must maintain a household and contribute over half the cost of maintaining it.

(3) Your unmarried child must live with you in the household you maintain as the principal residence of both you and your child. The child need not be your dependent.

(Q) What are some checks I can make to avoid an error on my return?

(A) To insure the prompt processing of your return, you should check the following before sending your return: (1) be sure all your mathematical computations are correct; (2) be sure you use the correct tax table or tax rate schedule; (3) be sure you use the peel-off label (with any name or address corrections) from the cover of your tax forms package; (4) be sure that your return is signed and dated; joint returns must have the signatures of husband and wife; and (5) be certain all W-2 Forms and supporting documents are attached to your return.

(Q) What form should I use to compute my child care deduction?

(A) IRS Form 2441, "Expenses for Household and Dependent Care Services," or equivalent computation detail should be submitted with your return, if you deduct child care expenses. Use the order blank on the back of your tax form package to obtain a copy or request one at a local IRS office.

IRS Publications 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care," describes the requirements for the deduction. It's available free by also using the order blank.

(Q) I noticed there are two places on the 1973 Federal income tax return to check off tax dollars to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. Did you make a mistake?

(A) No. On the 1973 returns, taxpayers have the opportunity to check off $1 ($2 if married filing jointly) for 1973 and, if they did not check off on their 1972 return, this may be done on the 1973 return also.

(Q) I don't live in a county. Do I still have to fill in this block on my tax return?

(A) Yes, you must fill in the block. But see your tax form instructions for information on what to do in these circumstances.

Ohio Crashes Claim 9 Lives Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Nine persons died in weekend traffic accidents in Ohio, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The Patrol began the count at 6 p.m. Friday, ending it at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY
COLUMBUS — Daniel Lee Roberts, 19, Columbus, when he lost control of his motorcycle and ran into a tree on a city street.

MARION — William Darling Jr., 39, of Marion, in a two-car collision at the intersection of Ohio 98 and 529 southeast of Marion.

WARREN — David Kellar, 21, Newton Falls, in a single-car crash on a road in Trumbull County.

CLEVELAND — Charles Sloan, no age, Cleveland, in a one-car accident within city limits.

SATURDAY
WOOSTER — Robert D. Clinton, 27, of Orrville, when he jumped from a moving car on a Wayne County road. Authorities said it was an apparent suicide.

FRIDAY NIGHT
CONNEAUT — Elizabeth Baco, 71, of Conneaut, when struck by a car while walking along U.S. 20 in Ashtabula County.

MONROEVILLE — Leona Walton, 61, of Monroeville, when her car and another car collided with a bus at the intersection of U.S. 20 and Ohio 99 in Monroeville.

PORTSMOUTH — William Kopp, 38, of Waverly, in a one-car crash on U.S. 23 north of Portsmouth.

OSU Senior Drowns While Skin Diving

KEY LARGO, Fla. (AP) — Terry Gene Grieser, 21, of Springfield, Ohio, a senior at Ohio State University, drowned Sunday while on a skin diving outing with a group of friends.

Authorities said Grieser, who had been vacationing here since Thursday, became separated from his friends. His body later was found lying on the bottom.

Law Protects Stripper Wells

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unlike some others proposing superboards, price rollbacks and the like to fight the energy crisis, one member of the Ohio House has offered a grass roots proposal.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, introduced a measure that seeks to keep small producing so-called stripper wells—those producing 10 barrels or less a day—from being plugged and abandoned.

"There is presently considerable pressure to plug wells that are not heavy producers because of the current shortage of well pipe," said Speck.

Speck's bill, which applies both to gas and oil wells, would require owners of small wells to offer to sell them to owners of the land before having the right to plug and abandon them.

The New Concord legislator said his legislation is needed because in a number of instances "well producers have been abandoning and plugging wells that were still producing at a reasonable enough level to provide a land owner and his neighbors with gas."

"When the well is plugged," said Speck, "a usable resource is lost and the landowner is left without any fuel."

Under the terms of the bill, the well owner would be required to offer to sell the well at a fair market price, fixed by three disinterested persons. The well owner would choose one appraiser, the land owner another, and they would name the third by mutual agreement.

The procedure would apply only after the land owner had given notice of his interest in purchasing the well. Notice that he was not interested would be sufficient to allow the well owner to go ahead and plug.

While Speck regards the pipe shortage as temporary, he said "once a well is plugged that is the end of it."

The Muskingum County lawmaker

said he knows of some instances where wells were plugged and abandoned while still producing.

"Four or five farmers in my district advised me that this happened," he said.

Hundreds of oil wells in Ohio, many originally drilled during the oil boom of the 1890's, lie abandoned with 50 per cent of their oil still in the ground.

Modern technology hasn't yet come up with an economic means of recovering that last 50 per cent.

"There's undoubtedly large amounts of oil in those wells," said George Abraham of Standard Oil's natural resources division, "but the technology is lacking to recover it."

The Derby Garden Club will hold its annual Fashion Show on April 1, at the Derby United Methodist Church. The time is 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $1 each, and you may obtain them from members. The clothes to be shown are from Sharff's of Circleville. Raffle tickets may also be obtained for 2 for $1. The prize is a $50 gift certificate. There will also be door prizes. Tea and other refreshments will be served.

Club member Mrs. Dora Caudill tells me the club's annual Spring Banquet will be held on March 26, at Wardell's Party House, Circleville, with door prizes and favors. Mrs. Shirley McPherson is the president and Mrs. Lois Rouff vice-president.

Special Board of Elections hours at the court house in Circleville are:

March 29 - 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
March 30 - 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.
April 6 - 9 a.m. to 12 noon.
April 8 - 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Anyone who will be 18 years old by May 7, must also register by the April closing date to be eligible to vote.

Rick Stillings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stillings of Clark's Lake is home from the hospital and is slowly improving from an attack of rheumatic fever.

Cottage prayer meetings are a part of the schedule at the Southwest Community Church. A meeting was held Tuesday at the Williams home at Clark's Lake and on March 26, the next meeting will be held at the Adams home at the Lake.

A teen bowling party will be held with the Wilson Ave. Nazarene Church teens on March 23. Members will meet at the Church here at 6:30 p.m. for sloppy Joes, and then on to Grove City to bowl. The cost is 60 cents per game plus shoe rental.

In the Sunday evening service of March 23, the Southwest Community Church of the Nazarene will show a film "To Make a Miracle" which is about the way God has worked miracles on the mission field. Plan to enjoy this film.

Committee Continues Support For Glenn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County Democratic executive committee has maintained its support of former astronaut John Glenn for the party's nomination in the May primary.

The committee continued its endorsement of Glenn Saturday, despite the state committee's backing of incumbent U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum.

Otherwise, the county group brought its endorsements in line with the state organization's.

But it gave an unusual dual endorsement for secretary of state to state Sen. Tony P. Hall of Dayton and Beverly A. Bingle of Columbus, despite the objection of Miss Bingle. She said it was a "clear violation of the rules."

Slides Of Holy Land Garden Club Program

Charles Hickey showed colored slides of the Holy Land as the program for the March meeting of Pickaway County Garden Club at First Presbyterian Church. He was introduced by Mrs. Sidney Ayers, program chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickey visited Israel a year ago hoping to capture something he said, but they were captured instead by the feeling of nearness to the Lord and by the love of the people shown to travelers. They enjoyed a feeling of complete safety while there.

The itinerary included a visit to the Dead Sea, Nazareth, along the Jordan river, Galilee and the Mount of Olives. Many of the lovely churches and other buildings have been built since Christ's time on earth. Some are very ornate and beautifully tiled. The birthplace in the cave is quite ornate with the manger and each area located as they were originally.

Trees and other vegetation along the Jordan and other areas grow abundantly. The Garden of Gethsemane looks quite modern with its colorful plantings but still contains the rock on which Jesus prayed and the olive trees are said to have come from roots of the olive trees which stood when Jesus was there.

There is still the Sepulcher where Jesus' body lay. With differing opinions about precise location, Mr. Hickey said a young man in Israel pointed out that location is not the most important factor but that we are given freedom to make our own choice of the life we lead.

Hostesses for the carry-in dinner were: Mrs. James G. Scott, chairman; Mrs. E. E. Porter, Mrs. John Mast, Mrs. Rosemary Strickland, Mrs. Robert Rickerd, Mrs. Charles Jolliffe and Mrs. Paul Butz. They decorated the tables with vases of daffodils, pussy willow and forsythia.

Mrs. Theodore Huston, president, welcomed guests and conducted the business session. Two new members, Mrs. Lyle Anundson and Mrs. Bill Payton were welcomed.

Miriam Weaver, chairman of the Stage's Pond Fund, read letters from William Nye of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and Professor Deryl of the Ohio Chapter of Nature Conservancy, commending the groups which worked on preservation of the pond.

Pickaway County Garden Club will sponsor a Junior Garden Club in the Garden Club of Ohio with Marilyn Huffer as leader of the newly formed group.

Pictures for a conservation coloring contest have been distributed to fifth grade children in Circleville Schools. Basis for the picture was a snapshot of

Radio Extortion Plot Broken Up With 3 Arrests

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A court hearing has been scheduled here next Monday for three persons charged with extortion for allegedly attempting to force a New York radio station to air their views.

Being held in Stark County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond were Larry N. Cooper, 26; Gwendolyn McCutcheon, 21, and Carol Holmes, 19, a Wooster College sophomore.

The FBI in Cleveland said the three were arrested in Wooster after they called radio station WABC several times Saturday demanding air time or they would kill a hostage.

The FBI said the trio told the radio station to provide four hours of broadcast time for a taped statement or they would kill the hostage and commit suicide.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

There's More Than One Way

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that every time a person has sexual relations he burns up 300 calories.

I would like to lose 10 pounds, and my husband would like to lose 20 pounds.

Do you recommend this method of losing weight? And how many calories would a person have to burn to lose one pound?

NO PUT ON

DEAR NO: I'm advised that one must burn 3,500 calories to lose one pound of body fat. There can be no reliable figure on the number of calories burned during sexual relations because physical exertion varies with the individual.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the seven year old Lutheran boy who wanted to turn Jewish because his sister who was being raised Jewish, got seven presents, one for each day of Hanukkah and he only got one present for Christmas.

His parents should give him seven presents for Christmas and let him decide whether he wants to go to the Protestant route or the Jewish route. He might even decide to be a Roman Catholic and go to Notre Dame and beat U.C.L.A. again some day!

BILL K.

DEAR BILL: Judging from some of the names of those fellows on Notre Dame's teams, you don't have to be a Roman Catholic to play for Notre Dame.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

TRAFFIC SAFETY SLOGAN—Frank Ryan, left, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, was the guest speaker at the Ohio Association of Insurance Agents safety meeting. Attending from Circleville was Richard E. Plum, right, president of the Pickaway County Independent Insurance Agents Association. The safety slogan contest, closing April 1, offers a grand prize as the free use of a 1974 compact with inurance coverage for one year. First, second and third place state winners in the children and youth category will receive 10-speed bicycles and will be presented an award by Governor John J. Gilligan, and a tour of the State House. Entry blanks may be obtained from members of the Ohio Association of Insurance Agents, Inc., or the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, 240 Parsons Ave., Columbus.

Old Age Is An Angry Time

By JIM BISHOP

Within me there is a deep interest in old people, because I am prepping to be one. I will be an old gaffer or I will be dead, and I'd rather be an old gaffer.

In spite of travel, we have spent considerable time in Florida—and this state, as you know, is the burial ground of the rhinestone elephants. They buy condominiums and glare balefully at the sunshine and grapefruit.

The retirees of Florida do not differ from those elsewhere, except that in the Sunshine State you have an excellent chance of passing on with a tan. A chronically diminished blood supply to the brain rattles judgment, induces negative opinions and excuses bad manners. Old couples in supermarkets engage in Battles of the Carts the way the knights of King Arthur unhorsed each other in jousting.

Some will not walk across a street unless the light is red. Then, in spite of squealing rubber and horns, they continue to the opposite curb to turn and glare, "Go ahead. Kill me."

Age, which touches mankind at varying calendar years, demands more of everything and receives less. Example (my father): "Are you sure you want me to live with you? Every morning I've been getting five prunes. Now it's down to four."

Old gentlemen and old ladies feel no morale boost when they study the face in the mirror every morning. The old man must shave his, staring at the poached eyes and the gelatinous chins. The old lady must effect a daily miracle: apply unguents to those features and make them attractive one more time.

Living with that vision isn't easy.

Search Given Up For 2 Lost At Sea

BAYPORT, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard gave up its search Sunday for M. W. Denslow, 78, of Ashland, Ohio, and his son, C. R. Denslow, 45, of Brooksville, Fla., who were lost at sea after their fishing boat capsized.

Two other members of the fishing party, James Heisserer of Brooksville and Charles Blyth of Tampa were rescued Saturday, nearly 24 hours after the accident.

Knowing that the children are grown and busy with their own families is no solace. "I wish," my mother said on her 50th anniversary, "that you were all little again and had to do as I tell you."

An elderly lady is, let us bear in mind, a wife, a mother, a housekeeper, a sister and, long ago, a dutiful daughter. Most of the physical love has dissipated with the onset of Medicare. She sits. She studies her fingers. She sews a little. Reads a little. Watches the afternoon soap operas. Wonders whether to unfreeze three lamb chops or four.

The man is in limbo. Now that he can sleep as late as he pleases, he can't sleep. Once he had a job, a business, a career. Now he thinks that if he cleans the ashtrays, the walking will help his arthritis.

He finds that he has become in-temperate. He "blows up" over inconsequential matters, but hasn't learned how to apologize. To kill time, he and his wife wander in and out of movies. "What was the plot?" he says on the way home. "I mean, not counting the dirty parts."

Usually, he votes against rather than for a candidate. Part of his enjoyment may be in attending town council meetings and harassing the mayor. His shouting incoherencies makes him feel that he has "fixed them," but it wrecks his blood pressure.

Each morning, between awakening and the second cup of coffee, they must rehammer their frames together to withstand the rigors of another day. It isn't fun to anyone who can recall youth as though it was last week. This accounts for some of the bad manners in public.

If, to use a slippery norm, the 60th birthday is the start of old age, then we have scores of millions of old people whose experience and wisdom is not put to use. They are wasted because we don't have enough work for our young.

Old age also brings unwanted thoughts about death. It's a little closer now, and it does not help to learn, from week to week, "Guess who died yesterday? You'd never believe it. Never had a sick day in his life . . ."

My father, at 85, said he felt no triumph. "What good is it? I have outlived your mother and all our friends. Who is left? Me. And when I talk, who knows what I'm talking about. You? Your kids?"

To be old and busy making a buck is good. To be old and rich and out of work is bad. Man was born to produce as woman was born to reproduce. It is when these functions are foreclosed that the bitterness of age begins.

The anger of age appears to be directed outwardly, to loved ones. It isn't. It is nourished by an inward dissatisfaction with the so-called "fruits of life." The most important event may be a Social Security check in the mail box. But no one ever signed one: "With love . . ."

COLUMBIAGAS

AAA Ohio Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two-time all-stater Mark Bayless of Chillicothe, an all-purpose guard, today was named The Associated Press Class AAA Ohio High School Basketball Player of the Year.

The AP also selected Bob Rupert of state poll champion Canton McKinley as its Class AAA State Coach of the Year.

The selections were based on regular season performances only and were selected on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Bayless, a 6-foot-2 senior, was the lone player to make the first team for the second straight season. He also was selected twice as the Southeastern District Player of the Year.

The fifth leading scorer in Chillicothe history averaged 21.3 points, eight rebounds and five assists a game this winter despite injuries.

Rupert, Canton McKinley's coach for 13 years, guided the Bulldogs to an 18-0 regular season. Rupert also has turned out three state poll champions in his McKinley career.

Before tournament play began, Rupert had piled up a 333-88 career record, including a 243-50 mark at McKinley.

Bayless edged 6-7 Terry Burris of

Columbus Whitehall, the reigning state high jump champion who averaged 23.7 points, and 6-8 Lawrence Boston of Cleveland Kennedy, with a 24.5 average, as the Player of the Year.

Burris and Boston also landed first team berths on the allstate team. Both are seniors.

Also on the No. 1 unit were 6-6½ Randy Ayers of Springfield North, 6-5 Tim Joyce of Youngstown Ursuline, 6-5 Mike Reardon of Fremont Ross, 6-1 Mike Styles of Steubenville and 6-3 Terry Crosby of Toledo DeVilbiss.

All are seniors except Crosby, a junior.

On the second team were Ted

Williams of Mount Vernon, Jud Wood of Columbus Northland, Bernard Newman of Piqua, Burrell McGhee of Warren Western Reserve, Stan Hall of Canton McKinley, Frank Steele of Toledo Scott, Harry Davis of Cleveland Latin and Chuck Booms of Elyria.

Third team berths went to Norvain Morgan of Trotwood Madison, Dave Heck of New Philadelphia, Gary Jackson of Toledo Waite, Bo Clemens of Portsmouth, Brian Stertz of Columbus Eastmoor, Mark Mace of Athens, Vic Watkins of Canton South and Charles Watkins of East Cleveland Shaw.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Associated Press 1974 AllOhio Class AAA high school basketball team (selected on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters):

Detroit Tigers Still Look Like 3rd Place Team

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The optimistic banter is much like it is most years in spring training for the Detroit Tigers.

"If we get off to a good start, I think we'll make some people eat crow," says pitcher Joe Coleman.

"I think we're going to surprise a lot of people," adds outfielder Jim Northrup. "The critics have written us off, but we've got a lot of guys who want to win."

"Baltimore is the team to beat and we have as good a chance as anyone else of beating them," chimes in new Manager Ralph Houk.

The Tigers still have the ability to battle with the contenders — but when it's all over, it looks like they'll be third in the American League East, behind Baltimore and Boston.

Having guys who want to win might help, but it won't help overcome Detroit's questionable pitching staff, lack of hitting superstars and absence of speed.

Al Kaline will be the designated hitter and can reach the 3,000-hit circle with 139 more hits. He has a .299 career batting average but beyond him, nobody can routinely be expected to hit .300.

There are good hitters like Willie Horton, Northrup and Bill Freehan — but they are inconsistent. The team was second in the league with 157 home runs last season — but it seems to have passed the point where the long ball can do it all for them. In 1973, for instance, Norm Cash led the team in homers with 19 — but had only 40 runs batted in.

Aurelio Rodriguez leads an outstanding defensive lineup and may be the best fielding third baseman in the league, but his .222 average and team-leading RBI count of 58 won't scare many teams. Center fielder Mickey Stanley and shortstop Ed Brinkman are the other superior defensive players.

Coleman and Mickey Lolich have averaged 21 victories apiece the past three years, but who can say whether either can keep it up?

It's strictly a wait-and-see situation as to who the other starting pitchers will be. They will come from among veterans Woodie Fryman, Jim Perry, newcomer Luke Walker and youngsters Fred Holdsworth, Lerrin LaGrow and Bill Slayback. John Hiller is among the best relief pitchers in baseball and is looking to newcomer Jim Ray and perhaps Chuck Seelbach for help.

The biggest spring training battle is for second base between rookie John Knox and journeyman Gary Sutherland, his roommate who was with Houston last year. Either is capable of handling the job vacated when Dick McAuliffe was traded to Boston.

A new atmosphere of looseness pervades the camp in contrast to the tenseness generated under the regime of former Manager Billy Martin. But can such a change produce better results?

There'll be surprises. There always are. But there are bound to be individual disappointments and only the Tiger superfan can expect a pennant this season.

Komets Top Wings, 4-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sunday night was a big one for the Fort Wayne Komets, as they broke a 12-game losing streak by dumping the Port Huron Wings 4-2 in International Hockey League action.

The Komets led the entire game, mounting a 1-0 lead after one period. They had a 2-1 margin after the second stanza and stretched the margin with two goals in the final period. No player scored more than once.

In other games, Des Moines dropped Flint 6-2, Columbus plugged Dayton 4-2 and Saginaw dumped Muskegon, also 4-2.

Des Moines got its victory with four third period goals, which followed two opening period scores which were only 50 seconds apart. Pete Mara scored twice to maintain his hot pace as the league's leading scorer.

John Heffner's two goals made up the difference for Columbus, which closed out its home season. Marcel Comeau put the winning goal over the line for Saginaw, as three teammates aided the victory with Gears' goals.

Prep Cage Action Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Top-ranked Canton McKinley, Akron Manchester and Lorain Clearview are solid favorites to win the three divisional championships in the 52nd Ohio High School Basketball Tournament this week.

McKinley, an overwhelming choice as the state Class AAA poll champion, brings a 24-0 record into the semifinals and finals in Ohio State's St. John Arena.

Manchester, the only other unbeaten team remaining with a 24-0 mark, was ranked second in the final state Class AA ratings. Clearview, 22-2, was No. 4 in Class A.

The Class A schools begin the three-day tournament Thursday night.

Mount Blanchard Riverdale, 21-3 and rated 17th, plays seventh-ranked Pittsburg Franklin Monroe, 24-3, at 7:30. Clearview takes on 1972 champion Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, unranked this season with a 20-4 record, in the 9:30 nightcap.

In Class AA semifinals Friday, Manchester is matched with No. 21 Cincinnati McNicholas, 19-6, at 11 a.m. and third-ranked Genoa, 22-1, tangles with unranked Columbus Hartley, 19-5, at 2:30 p.m.

In Class AAA semifinals Friday night, defending champion Cincinnati Elder, 21-3 and 16th rated, plays 1922 king Mount Vernon, 19-4 and No. 19, at 6. McKinley draws No. 17 Toledo Scott, 22-2, at 9:30.

The Class A title game will be played at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, followed by the Class AA showdown at 3 p.m. and the Class AAA championship at 7:30 p.m.

Columbus Ready, the 1973 Class AA champion, and Marion Pleasant, last year's Class A ruler, were eliminated earlier in the playoffs.

McKinley is making its 14th trip to the state semifinals without a previous championship. The Bulldogs have been beaten seven times in the semifinals and six in the title contest.

Meanwhile, Elder and Indian Valley South try to stretch their success stories another chapter.

Elder went undefeated in 1972 football and won the basketball, baseball and cross country state crowns in 1973.

Indian Valley South, coached by easy-going, shrewd Charlie Huggins,

Dale Bandy OU Coach

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Dale Bandy, assistant basketball coach at Ohio University, has been elevated to the top spot, replacing Jim Snyder, who resigned at the end of the season.

Dale, a 36-year-old Ohio U. graduate, said, "It's a tremendous challenge and one that I'm certainly looking forward to."

Bandy, a native of Portsmouth, played on Snyder's 1959-60 Mid-American Conference championship team. After coaching in the high school ranks, Bandy joined Snyder as an assistant for the 1963-64 season.

"It's going to be a tough act to follow, with Jim's seven championships in the last 14 years, and it will be our goal to continue this winning tradition," Bandy said.

Ohio U. Athletic Director Bill Rohr, who announced Bandy's appointment over the weekend, said he is "very deserving of the job. He knows the game. He is OU oriented, and I consider him a class young man."

lost all of its starters from last year and yet has reached the final four for the third straight season.

In Class AAA regional championships Saturday night, McKinley bombed Boardman 98-71, Scott edged Lorain King 59-55, Mount Vernon ousted Columbus Brookhaven 62-42 and Elder eliminated seven-time state king Middletown 79-62.

In Class AA regionals, Manchester wheeled by Twinsburg Chamberlin 75-58, Hartley nipped Tiltonsville Buckeye South 77-76, McNicholas beat Camden Preble Shawnee 76-63 and Genoa thumped Elyria Catholic 64-48.

In Class A Regionals, Pittsburg Franklin Monroe knocked off Pleasant 64-52, Riverdale defeated Continental 60-58 in overtime, Clearview nudged Dalton 58-56 and Indian Valley South slipped by Peebles 43-41.

Buffalo Sabres Top Minnesota, 5-2

By The Associated Press

Rick Martin is shooting more and the Buffalo Sabres' opponents are enjoying it less.

"I talked to Martin after Saturday night's tie in St. Louis," said Buffalo Coach Joe Crozier, "and I told him he wasn't shooting the puck enough. He was making an extra deke when he should have been shooting."

The result was that Martin took six shots on the Minnesota goal Sunday and three of them got past goalie Gump Worsley, pacing the Sabres to a 5-2 triumph and keeping their slim playoff hopes alive.

Elsewhere in the National Hockey League, the Atlanta Flames and Chicago Black Hawks tied 3-3, the Boston Bruins beat the New York Rangers 5-2, the Montreal Canadiens downed the New York Islanders 4-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers and Toronto Maple Leafs tied 2-2.

Cards Defeat Red Sox; 4-3

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

The continuing saga of Reggie Smith and Carlton Fisk — former teammates now gone separate ways to their mutual satisfaction — seems to have a way of sneaking from the locker room to the diamond.

The stage was set for the saga's latest act by a game between the Boston Red Sox, Smith's former team, and his new team, the St. Louis Cardinals.

Smith took a few pot shots at Fisk before the game, calling the Boston catcher a "crybaby" and "backstabber," then took another shot at pitcher Diego Segui in the ninth inning, sending Segui's first pitch out of the park and helping the Cards to a 4-3 exhibition victory over the Red Sox.

Meanwhile, Fisk took a shot of his own, in the fifth inning. It was a foul tip off the bat of Joe Torre that caught the AllStar catcher in the groin and probably will sideline him for two or three days.

Smith's homer tied the game at 3-3, and then Ken Reitz singled in the winning score with two out.

In other exhibition games, the other half of the Boston club beat Philadelphia 10-7, Los Angeles squashed the New York Mets 9-2, Minnesota beat Houston 9-5, Cincinnati blanked Atlanta 7-0, Baltimore defeated Pittsburgh 7-3, the Chicago White Sox got by Kansas City 8-5, the Chicago Cubs beat Oakland 6-2, San Francisco defeated California 8-2, Montreal blasted Texas 5-1, Cleveland downed Milwaukee 3-1, and the Yankees pummeled Detroit 5-1.

"I'm glad to get away from a crybaby like Fisk," Smith said. He said since the 1973 campaign, "I've only seen his picture in the paper and read all that stuff he's been saying behind my back. He didn't have the nerve to say it to my face."

Fisk retaliated by calling Smith "a troublemaker," but would not discuss the situation further, keeping his distance from Smith during the game. Neither exchanged words.

Steve Carlton was tagged for six runs in three innings, and outfielder Bernie Carbo got four singles and drove in three runs to lead the other half of the Boston contingent. Rick Wise got the victory by holding Philadelphia scoreless for five innings.

Ron Cey, who has six RBIs in his past two games, had a homer and a single in Los Angeles' rendering of the New York Mets. Dave Lopes stole three bases for the Dodgers.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers announced that third baseman Ken McMullen had left the club to join his wife, Bobbie, who is seriously ill and being hospitalized in California. Mrs. McMullen underwent surgery last May for cancer.

Bob Darwin homered for two runs, and Steve Braun's circuit blow drove in another three, pacing Minnesota to its first victory of the exhibition season. Houston took a 3-1 lead after Harmon Killebrew had put the Twins on the board with a single in the first inning.

Cincinnati exploded for 17 hits and pitchers Pat Osburn, Steve Kealey and Pat Zachery held the Braves scoreless in the Reds' victory. Ken Griffey led the Reds at the plate with three hits, while Atlanta slugger Hank Aaron went hitless in four at-bats.

Pittsburgh committed four costly errors in the game, and the Orioles jumped to a 5-2 lead in the fourth inning on four runs off Pirate starter Bruce Kison. Inos Cabell had three RBIs for Baltimore.

The White Sox scored seven runs off Marty Pattin in the first three innings to move to an easy victory over Kansas City. Jorge Orta had two singles and a homer with four RBIs for Chicago.

The Cubs got homers from Vic Harris and Jerry Morales, and Bill Madlock added three hits to pace Chicago past the world champion A's. Madlock, in 29 at-bats, has 18 hits for a .620 average so far in preseason play.

Three Giant pitchers — John D'Acquisto, Frank Riccielli, and Mike Caldwell — held California to three hits, and San Francisco tagged Nolan Ryan for five runs in four innings, including Chris Speier's solo homer.

Bob Bailey doubled twice, scored two runs and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly for Montreal.

The Expos touched Texas relief pitcher Pete Broberg for three runs in the fifth inning.

Charlie Spikes doubled in Cleveland's winning run, and shortstop Frank Duffy, who had homered to tie the game in the third inning, scored an insurance run in the Indians' victory over Milwaukee.

Bobby Murcer personally accounted for three Yankee runs that carried the New York club past Detroit, now managed by former Yankee mentor Ralph Houk. Murcer doubled home two runs and scored the other himself in the first meeting of the two teams since Houk gave up the Yankee reins.

Cotton Exports Slowed By Pinch

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department experts said today U.S. cotton exports are being backed up as a result of transportation difficulties and that as much as 1.3 million bales may not be shipped until next season.

H. Reiter Webb, director of the cotton division of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, said further that more than 3.1 million bales of additional cotton from the 1974 crop had been sold by mid-February for export delivery in the 1974-75 season beginning next Aug. 1.

"Thus, as much as 4.4 million bales may be committed for export (next season), three million of which are from a crop not even planted," Webb said in a weekly issue of Foreign Agriculture published by the agency.

Cotton exports for the current 1973-74 season are officially estimated at about 5.5 million bales, but those include the 1.3 million Webb says may not be shipped until next crop year.

Last week USDA said surveys on March 1 indicated farmers intend to plant 14.8 million acres of cotton this spring, up 18 per cent from 1973.

Webb said cotton plantings worldwide this year may increase about 3.3 per cent, based upon soundings by USDA agricultural attaches stationed abroad. However, he said, production may not increase that much because of lower yields per acre.

Even so, Webb said, cotton production in the 1974-75 season in 20 major producing countries — which account for nearly 90 per cent of foreign output — is expected to be at record levels and range between 48 million and 49.5 million bales, compared with 47 million produced in 1973-74.

Cotton use in foreign countries is expected to rise to about 54 million bales, up from 51 million in the current year. That means a deficit between foreign production and use of between four million and six million bales.

Webb said U.S. cotton exports, not counting amounts which may not be shipped from the current season, are expected to be around 5.5 million bales, the same as the gross shipments for the current year.

In a companion report, the Foreign Agricultural Service said U.S. cotton sales to the Peoples Republic of China for the marketing year ending next Sept. 30 total more than one million bales, up from 587,000 in 1972-73. Contracts for selling cotton to China next season already total more than 376,000 bales.

The report said competition for land to grow food continues strong in China and that cotton production in the country probably will not increase soon.

"Thus, it appears reasonable to assume that cotton imports (by China) will continue at a high level, although probably at a slightly more reduced magnitude," the report said.

UCLA Gears Up For N.C. State

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

UCLA, favored to win its eighth straight National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship, geared up for Saturday's semifinal meeting with top-ranked North Carolina State at Greensboro, N.C., with some old fashioned sabre-rattling.

Coach John Wooden sounded the challenge when he recalled the Bruins' 84-66 romp over the Wolfpack last December in St. Louis.

"I want them to remember we beat

Hubert Green Jacksonville Golf Winner

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Hubert Green's going to have to change his act.

For a couple of seasons, the lanky, laconic young man from Birmingham, Ala., has characterized himself as "just another pretty face on the tour."

But his credentials are getting too impressive for that now. He's rapidly becoming one of the game's premier performers.

Green scored his second victory of the year and fourth in the last 12 months with a gritty comeback performance Sunday in the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf tournament.

He won it with a 71 that included a decisive four birdies in a row and a 276 total, 12 under par on the 7,088-yard Deerwood Country Club course and a comfortable three strokes in front of John Mahaffey.

Mahaffey matched par 72 in the mild, sunny, slightly windy weather, and finished at 279. Jerry Heard, first and second in his two previous performances, came on to take third with a 68-280.

Jim Weichers suffered another bitter, frustrating disappointment. The big guy, who has been in position to win a half dozen times in the last year, entered the final round in a tie with Green for the top, actually took the lead at one stage then again fell victim to a poor finish.

He closed with a 40 on the back nine, a 76 and a tie for fourth with DeWitt Weaver and Leonard Thompson at 281. Thompson had a final 70 and Weaver 71.

Columbus Man Leads In Bowling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mike Ryan of Columbus combined team, doubles and singles scores of 697, 713 and 665 for a 2,075 total Sunday to take the lead in the all events division of the 70th annual Ohio State Bowling Association tournament.

He unseated Ted Malicki of Maple Heights, who had held the top spot with a 1,995.

them by 18 points on a neutral court with Bill Walton playing only half the game," declared Wooden. "I want them to dwell on that."

UCLA, 25-3 on the season, made it into the semis with an impressive 83-60 rout of San Francisco Saturday in the finals of the Far West Regionals. All-Americans Keith Wilkes and Bill Walton paced the attack with 27 and 17 points, respectively.

North Carolina State cruised into the finals with a 100-72 thumping of Pittsburgh in the East Regionals. The Wolfpack's only concern was for the well-being of All-American David Thompson, who suffered a concussion when he fell to the floor in the first half. He was hospitalized Saturday night, released Sunday and is expected to be at full speed for UCLA.

Tom Burleson had 26 points and 12 rebounds for the Wolfpack, 28-1 on the year.

The other semifinal Saturday will match Mideast champion Marquette against Midwest titlist Kansas. The Warriors, 25-4, edged Michigan 72-70 on the strength of a pair of free throws by Dave Delsman with 45 seconds left. It marks the first time in nine NCAA appearances Marquette has made it to the semis.

Kansas, 23-5, shaded Oral Roberts 93-90 as reserve Tommie Smith sank a pair of baskets in the final 28 seconds. Danny Knight had 19 points to lead the balanced Jayhawks attack.

At New York's Madison Square Garden, Connecticut, Utah, Boston College and Memphis State scored first-round victories Sunday in the National Invitation Tournament.

Jim Foster pumped in 27 points to lead Connecticut past St. John's, N.Y., 82-70. Tickey Burden's 34 points powered Utah to a 102-89 victory over Rutgers. Jere Nolan's foul shot in the final seconds gave Boston College a 63-62 upset of Cincinnati. Memphis State held off Seton Hall 73-72 by virtue of Dexter Reed's free throw with 30 seconds left.

In Saturday's NIT action, Purdue surprised North Carolina 82-71, Maryland-Eastern Shore dumped Manhattan 84-81, Jacksonville beat Massachusetts in overtime 73-69 and Hawaii edged Fairfield 66-65.

Southern California and Indiana advanced to tonight's finals of the Collegiate Commissioners Association tourney with hard-earned overtime victories Sunday.

The Trojans, 24-4, got by Bradley 76-73 as Dan Anderson and Bob Trowbridge teamed for nine points in the extra period. The Hoosiers, 22-5, edged Toledo 73-72 on a clutch basket by freshman Kent Beson.

West Georgia claimed the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship Saturday with a 97-79 romp over Alcorn State. Tom Turner topped the Braves with 28 points and Clarence Walker, named the tourney's Most Valuable Player, added 24.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (March 21 to Apr. 20): You may be called upon to make some weighty decisions. Do not make them in haste. Careful thought, a realistic attitude and logical thinking needed.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A better day and better possibilities than may seem apparent at first. Planetary influences should stimulate your ambitions and incentive.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Look for better ways to handle everyday tasks, with the idea of assuring more efficiency and leaving more time for study, as well as expansion.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You have a fine planetary set-up. Get into the spirit of things and do the most to advance your interests.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Note why many succeed where others fail. Alert observation along these lines could prove profitable. An excellent performance is possible now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Follow through on well-devised plans and procedures, and don't be sidetracked by nonessentials. You can make rapid strides forward if you capitalize on all skills.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Investigate all angles of any new proposition offered, but don't fear the unknown; just get better acquainted with its possibilities—or lack of them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Shut no doors abruptly or you'll regret it. Such action is not like you but on a challenging day such as this, you COULD step out of character.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Tricky in spots, day will demand close attention to details, efficient planning and good follow-through. Avoid making rash promises.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Stretch a point where it will pay off later. A vote of confidence is sometimes necessary to secure the cooperation you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You should have easier sledding than many others now—as long as you are accurate and conduct your affairs with logic and candor. Curb a tendency toward recklessness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Uncertainty could offset your best efforts, so be decisive. Marshal all your talents, will power and experience with a view toward taking brisk steps forward.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a keenly analytical mind and a lovable nature; are a philosopher at heart — adaptable to almost any environment in which you find yourself. You are a born teacher and love intellectual pursuits; are also inventive and meticulous about details. You make excellent scientists, entertainers, statesmen and seamen; are a true humanitarian and could be the pillar of your community. Birthdate of: Wm. Black Caucus Nixes New Party

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Black leaders and organizers have backed off from a proposal to form a national black political party. But they agreed at their convention here to raise $17.5 million for minority causes.

Delegates voted at the final session Sunday to table the controversial motion for a third major party after spokesmen for the Louisiana and Ohio delegations termed it unrealistic and called for its rejection.

The Louisiana delegation spokesman said ideological differences among blacks presently made formation of such a party impractical. The Ohio spokesman said blacks must build a viable base in their local communities before attempting to create a national party.

Conference co-convenor Immanuel Baraka of Newark, N.J., called tabling of the motion "a reasonable view."

He said the motion will be brought up again at a September meeting of the Black National Political Assembly, which organized the three-day National Black Political Convention here.

Conference delegates earlier ratified a Louisiana delegation motion attacking the National Democratic party for allegedly excluding minorities from its meaningful deliberations.

In voting to raise $17.5 million over the next three years for minority causes, the delegates proposed establishment of a Black United Fund to handle fund-raising effort aimed at small contributors and black businesses and organizations.

They set a timetable of $2.5 million in 1974, $5 million in 1975 and $10 million in 1976. They said the first $2.5 million was based on the assumption that at least 10 per cent of the estimated 25 million blacks in the United States would contribute $1 each.

The money will support a Foundation for Human Development, which will provide resources for human development and economic projects among black minorities around the world. It also will go to support liberation struggles in areas of Africa.

The conference also voted to work for a new Homestead Act for social reconstruction and to coordinate efforts to finance and establish black-owned television and radio stations.

Approved by voice vote was a resolution condemning U.S. congressmen who voted $2.2 billion in military aid for Israel "to wage war against Arab peoples while at the same time appropriating less than $25 million to help six African nations suffering from drought."

Kidnaped Woman's Return Promised

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Ransom has been paid for the return of Eunice Kronholm and her abductors have promised to let her banker husband know her whereabouts today, a family spokesman said.

Mrs. Kronholm, whose husband, Gunnar, is president of Drovers State Bank in South St. Paul, disappeared from her Lino Lakes home Friday morning.

Her brother-in-law, the Rev. Bruce Fleming, read a brief statement in a telephone call to The Associated Press early today.

"The ransom money has been delivered to the abductors as instructed," the Rev. Mr. Fleming said. "They have promised to let Gunnar Kronholm know this morning where his wife is being held. We are now prayerfully and with hope waiting for this information."

The Rev. Mr. Fleming, a Baptist minister whose wife is Mrs. Kronholm's sister, said he could not reveal any more information.

Earlier, the FBI said Mrs. Kronholm's automobile was found early today at a suburban Minneapolis shopping center.

The FBI said her 1969 Buick Skylark was found parked in a lot at the Southdale Shopping Center in the Minneapolis suburb of Edina.

The FBI said the car was found by the Edina Police Department, but no other details were released. Edina police referred questions about the car to the FBI.

Mrs. Kronholm, 46, was last seen by her husband when he left their home Friday morning for work.

Friday afternoon, Kronholm received a telephone call from someone who told him to deliver "all the money you can" to a "station." The caller hung up before Kronholm could clarify the demand.

Kronholm, 60, had asked the FBI not to interfere in the case. At a Saturday news conference on the front steps of his home, he pleaded for some contact from the kidnapers. He said:

"I await their demands and I will do my utmost to meet their expectations whenever and wherever they indicate. "Her safe return is all I want."

The kidnap victim is his second wife. His first wife died of cancer several years ago.

Portuguese Attempt Proves Flop

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese government appeared securely in control of the whole country today and tension eased after the failure of an attempted coup by young infantry officers.

Military police were holding between 20 and 30 army officers in the Lisbon area in addition to the 200 young officers and infantrymen who advanced on Lisbon in a motorized column Saturday.

Troops loyal to the authoritarian regime of Premier Marcello Caetano turned the rebels back without firing a shot. They returned to their barracks at Caldas da Rainha, 60 miles north of Lisbon, and surrendered several hours later.

Lisbon remained calm, and no disturbances were reported elsewhere in the country. Thousands of soccer fans from Oporto streamed into Lisbon Sunday for a game between Oporto and Sporting of Lisbon. Because of the game, the government relaxed a state of alert which had confined the military to their barracks, but it was clamped back on after the game.

The Lisbon club won 2-0.

The attempted revolt resulted from a movement in the armed forces for a political settlement to end the war against the native rebels in Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea, Portugal's African territories.

The movement was sparked by the recent book "Portugal and the Future," by the deputy chief of staff, Gen. Antonio de Spínola, which sharply criticized the government's African policy.

Congress Studies Military Bonuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special bonuses to attract men into the all-volunteer military's critically-short skilled jobs heads the congressional legislative agenda this week.

A bill to grant $85.4 million in special bonuses the first full year was scheduled for a House vote in the afternoon as was a new $140 million economic development program for Indian reservations.

The legislation to authorize federal loans to help Indians develop and manage their own resources originally was introduced by the late John P. Saylor, R-Pa., who died last October.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said the special military bonus bill is aimed at overcoming what he called the all-volunteer force's critical problem of attracting and keeping men in such critical skills as electronics.

The House bill would authorize enlistment bonuses up to $3,000 for specified skills, although the Pentagon plans to start the bonuses at $2,000. Bonuses up to $15,000 would be paid to men re-enlisting for the skilled jobs.

At the same time, the bill would halt the present $2,000 bonus for all men who re-enlist. The Pentagon estimates this change will reduce bonus costs by $44.5 million by 1979.

An amendment requiring admission of qualified women to military academies was tacked onto the GI bonus bill by the Senate. But that was knocked out in the House committee before the bill was sent out for House action.

The Senate returns from a long weekend Tuesday to take up its version of legislation to set up Congress' own expertise to determine how high the federal budget should be so it can rely less on a president's experts.

The House passed its version of the bill in December.

Both bills would create a congressional office of the budget, staffed by experts. Both also would require Congress to set its own federal budget ceiling each year.

Former Officer Faces Charges In Fatal Shooting

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Former police officer Phillip Morris of Fairview was charged with murder Sunday after a Newport man was shot to death.

Morris' estranged wife was wounded in the incident.

The murder victim was identified as Robert Rollins, 51. The shootings occurred in a camper parked on a central Covington street, police said.

They said Morris surrendered after a phone call to the police and was freed on $10,000 bond. He will appear in court Wednesday.

Cincinnati Officer Faces Inquiry Board

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Patrolman David Waddell, 28, will appear before a board of inquiry March 27 on a charge of misappropriating department gasoline.

Police said the investigation began when a man was seen pumping 15 gallons of gasoline into a private car.

The city has ordered strict enforcement of gasoline use since it discovered it could not account for 600,000 gallons used in 1973.

2 Drown Off Florida

BAYPORT, Fla. (AP) — A Central Florida man and his father from Ohio have been reported lost at sea after a two-day search for a capsized fishing boat.

The Coast Guard identified them as C. R. Denslow, 45, of Brooksville, Fla. and his father, M. W. Denslow, 78, of Ashland, Ohio.

Two survivors, James Heisserer of Brooksville and Charles Blyth of Tampa, clung to the 18-foot boat for nearly 24 hours before rescuers found them Saturday.

"The father went off before it got dark Friday," Blyth said Sunday. "C.R. kept trying to hold Jim and his father on. When his father drifted off, that upset C.R. pretty bad. He slipped off too some time about sunrise."

Blyth said the four had left Bayport Friday morning to go fishing, and went into the water about two hours later. He said the water was not rough, but that the boat hit a wave that sent water over the bow and stern.

Heisserer's nephew, Denny Highben, said his uncle told him there were life jackets aboard but the boat was swamped so quickly nobody could get them on.

FBI Sets Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley is scheduled to testify at a Senate hearing on legislation intended to insulate him and his successors from political pressures.

The hearing today, on a bill by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., is the first by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on FBI oversight since it was named last August to monitor the operations of the investigative agency.

The bill provides for a 10-year term for the FBI director but permits reappointment for one additional 10-year term. Both appointments would be subject to Senate confirmation.

However, the director, like any other presidential appointee, could be dismissed for cause.

Present law sets no limit on how long an FBI director may serve. J. Edgar Hoover held the office from 1924 until his death in May 1972.

Byrd's bill and the establishment of the oversight subcommittee grew out of President Nixon's ill-starred nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to succeed Hoover.

Byrd and some other Judiciary Committee members contended Gray had yielded to White House pressures in the FBI investigation of the Watergate case, and eventually Gray asked Nixon to withdraw his nomination.

Then Kelley, police chief in Kansas City, Mo., for 12 years and a former FBI agent, was nominated as Hoover's successor. He was confirmed by the Senate in June of last year.

Byrd said the confirmation hearings indicated "Congress must take steps to insulate the director of the FBI from possible political pressures — especially from the White House and, conceivably, even from Congress."

He observed that a 10-year term for the director would overlap by at least two years the tenure of any president. Byrd said this would eliminate many of the pressures that could be brought to bear if a director were to be appointed or reappointed each time a president took office.

Byrd's bill would apply to Kelley's tenure, since it would be retroactive to June 1 of last year. However, before Kelley could serve 10 years he will have reached the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Hoover was able to serve past 70 years because of an executive order waiving the retirement requirement.

St. Patrick's Day At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon wore a traditional shamrock in his lapel as he played host to 350 guests at a St. Patrick's Day worship service in the East Room of the White House.

The shamrock was pinned on by Gerald Malloy, the ambassador from Ireland, who also presented the President with a crystal vase of shamrocks flown from Ireland.

The President's daughter and son-in-law, Julie and David Eisenhower, were at the service. But Mrs. Nixon, who celebrated her 62nd birthday Saturday, was unable to attend because she has the flu.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale of Marble Collegiate Church in New York delivered the sermon, asking people and nations to "start loving one another."

King Hussein Now In Florida

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan arrived here from Washington in a private jet for a visit with James Kimberly, heir to the Kimberly-Clark fortune.

Hussein was whisked away from the airport Sunday without making a statement and was escorted by motorcade to Kimberly's home in the exclusive resort of Palm Beach. Kimberly, honorary consul of Jordan in Palm Beach, took Hussein fishing during a visit last year.

Two Fires Reported Sunday

Two fires within an hour of each other were reported to the Circleville Fire Department Sunday afternoon.

Dust and grease built up under the burners of a heating stove in the living room caused a fire in the Kelly Neal residence at 422 S. Washington St. at 12:35 p.m. Estimated loss on the contents was $25. There was no loss reported on the apartment owned by W. E. Clark.

A neighbor to the Charles Smith residence at 369 Weldon Ave. noticed smoke coming from the house and reported it to the department. Firemen dispatched to the scene at 1:25 p.m. finding no one at home and the living room sofa on fire.

The sofa was taken out of the house and the fire extinguished on the lawn causing no water damage to the home itself. The estimated loss of the sofa was $135. Firemen believe the fire was caused by a cigarette having been dropped on the sofa before the occupants left.

2. When the label reads "GROUND BEEF CHUCK," you can be sure it's ground only from the chuck. Our aim with fresh ground chuck ... 18% fat for flavor.
3. Our "Extra Lean Ground Beef" is all beef from several different cuts, freshly ground. Our aim ... 22% fat for flavor.
4. Our "Ground Beef," too, is made only from beef ... nothing added. With ground beef, our aim is ... 28% fat for flavor.

We feel it is our duty to keep our customers informed on the quality and labeling of our ground meat products including the control of fat content in our modern refrigerated meat plant under the supervision of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Not all stores can make these claims so don't be fooled. Know exactly what you're buying. Shop Kroger and be sure.

Kroger ... the quality meat people.

Something new is being added to food labels. It's called nutritional labeling, and it is designed to help shoppers make sure their families are eating the right foods.

The amount of protein and the seven essential vitamins and minerals contained in a serving of the food product will be shown right on the label as a percentage of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance for adults. Calories also will be listed, along with grams of protein, carbohydrates and fat. Using this information, the homemaker can plan menus which will insure that her family gets 100% of the protein and the essential vitamins and minerals they need each day.

Some of the new labels are starting to appear on store shelves already. Kroger shoppers, for example, will find the new labeling on Kroger breakfast cereals, white bread and buns, low calorie salad dressings, and pork and beans. In the months to come, more and more products will bear this important information on their labels. Kroger is going beyond the U.S. Food and Drug Administration requirements and plans to nutritionally-label many of its own brand products...which are equal in nutritional quality to leading brands yet cost less.

Read the labels. Let nutritional labeling help you shop more wisely.
